American Support Aids S. Viet Drive

Cambodian Drive Tightening Noose

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese army drove a 13th spearhead into Cambodia today, and Phnom Penh dispatches said the U.S. 7th Fleet had sent in more ships to help South Vietnam tighten its blockade of the Cambodian coast.

Below Phnom Penh, a three-pronged Allied force made up of the Cambodian army, newly arrived Cambodian mercenaries trained in South Vietnam by the Americans, and a force of 10,000 South Vietnamese tightened a noose around a Communist force.

The new South Vietnamese drive with American support crossed the frontier 120 miles northeast of Saigon near the Duc Lap and Bu Prang Green Beret camps which have been the objective of Communist sieges. The sanctuary across the border has long been a North Vietnamese stronghold.

Repeated Strikes

B52 bombers struck repeatedly into the sanctuary area and then the tank-led Vietnamese, mostly units of the South Vietnamese 23rd Infantry Division, moved in with American air and logistics support. Some large American forces have withdrawn from Cambodia and the new drive left 40,000 to 50,000 Allied troops in Cambodia.

UPI correspondent Robert Miller, in Phnom Penh, said Cambodian military sources reported radar picket ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet had been sent into the Gulf of Thailand to help the South Vietnamese blockade of the southern Cambodian ports.

The U.S. Command has made it clear the U.S. Navy is not actually blockading the coast since it is stopping only Viet Cong and North Vietnamese shipping and not any ships of neutral powers. But the radar picket ships help the South Vietnamese navy find blockade runners.

The South Vietnamese task force drove into Cambodia and moved 25 miles westward to the Takeo sector, driving a large but unknown size force ahead of it.

Cambodian troops with tanks and armored personnel carriers began driving southward Tuesday from Phnom Penh along Highway 3 toward Takeo, 45 miles below Phnom Penh.

A Phnom Penh dispatch today said a new group of mercenaries had arrived from South Vietnam and were pushing down Highway 2 which parallels Highway 3.

Whether the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese could escape the trap remained to be seen. Minor fighting was reported at the village of Phsa Kum Roesey, 23 miles below Phnom Penh on Highway 2.

Open New Front

In the meantime, the South Vietnamese opened a new front. No fighting was reported in the new drive, about 30 miles north of the Fishhook salient, a prime target of the Cambodian offensive. This new target area was used as a sanctuary by North Vietnamese troops who besieged the Duc Lap and Bu Prang Green Beret camps last fall.

Other South Vietnamese units joined forces with Cambodian troops in attempting to spring a trap on Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units who have fled the Allied thrust to an area south of Phnom Penh. One fight was reported 20 miles south of the Cambodian capital.

A guerrilla unit counterattacked a U.S. 25th Infantry Division night camp before midnight Tuesday and killed two GIs while wounding eight, military spokesman said. No Communist casualties were reported.

The joint South Vietnamese and Cambodian counteroffensive, one of the largest undertaken to date, involved not only regular troops from the two nations' armies but also Cambodian mercenaries flown in from their posts at U.S. Green Beret camps in Vietnam.

UPI correspondent Robert C. Miller reported from Phnom Penh a column of mercenaries was driving south southwest of the capital along Highway 3 toward Angtassom while a column of Cambodian army troops was driving south-southwest toward Takeo.

The east-west portion of the triangle was made up of about 3,000 South Vietnamese troops who Sunday reached Takeo, 40 miles south of Phnom Penh, and was driving west toward Angtassom 10 miles away.

American troops in the Cambodian operation, turned up 364 tons of rice in an area northeast of Phnom Penh, bringing the campaign's list of captured goods to 14,000 weapons, 3,600 tons of rice and hundreds of tons of ammunition.

Allied headquarters gave casualty figures in the Cambodian drive as 8,300 guerrillas slain, 157 Americans dead and 640 wounded, and about 570 South Vietnamese killed and 1,950 wounded.

Bell, Rolison, Savago Still Probing

Deplore Conditions at New Paltz

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"Indignation and frustration" over the current disorders at the State University at New Paltz, were expressed today in a joint statement issued by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, Sen. Jay P. Rolison Jr. and County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago.

Saying that "The American Flag has been the butt of ridicule and abuse and that a banner similar to the Viet Cong Flag has been flown on campus buildings," the three legislators said that, "preliminary investigations indicate buildings have been occupied illegally by student activists and classes were discontinued . . . there also have been other illegal and unlawful actions . . . and no student or person committing such acts has been arrested or even suspended or expelled."

Meanwhile, The Freeman learned that the black banner was hoisted atop the faculty tower building Monday and that it has been lowered and hoisted up again a number of times. Complaints concerning it and the fact that the American Flag has been seen flying upside down on the radio tower were registered by many observers including members of the VFW and construction workers on campus.

The Freeman also learned that telephone bills run up by striking students are estimated to be between $30,000 and $40,000 with calls having been made to Venezuela and Asia, as well as throughout the United States.

Bell, Rolison and Savago said they are continuing to investigate the New Paltz situation and "certainly hope the college administration will take more meaningful steps to restore order and an academic atmosphere conducive to the learning process.

Recent outbreaks of campus violence could torpedo students' big goal—lowering voting age to 18 . . . Story Page 40.

A statement in rebuttal to the allegations was being prepared by the college authorities this morning, according to the office of the president, Dr. John J. Neumaier, and will be published in Thursday's edition of The Freeman.

"As political leaders, we are powerless to do anything legally but we hope the college administration will respond more effectively to its duties and obligations to maintain order and guarantee the right of all students to engage in a peaceful and orderly learning process," they said.

"We are sensitive to the feelings and frustrations of the students who are growing up in a world which is fraught with uncertainties and injustices. Man cannot, however, hope to improve the situation by resorting to illegal and unlawful acts, violence and the destruction of property.

"The primary function of the college administration is to maintain an atmosphere conducive to the learning process where each student can develop to his maximum ability. This cannot be done by permitting unlawful activity injurious to the learning process."

Most Students Still Around

Mass Paltz Exodus—Just Rumors

By TIM SCHUSTER

NEW PALTZ

What rumors have billed as the mass exodus from the State University Campus here a week before final examinations has proved to be nothing more than just rumors, The Freeman learned today.

While the percentage of students attending classes remain somewhat less than half, by both student and administration estimates, the same two sources noted that there has been little decrease in campus population.

Students interviewed by The Freeman this morning said, "most students are still around." They cite the high attendance in the school operated cafeterias, and the fact that large numbers of students still use the dormitories.

Peter Turrone, a sophomore, said that Friday is the last day of classes, with exams scheduled "optionally" for next week. Many students anticipated that the exodus would occur this weekend, as a large number of professors will not require final exams this semester.

Mrs. Gail Gallerie, assistant to college president John J. Neumaier, described the campus situation at some length in an interview.

"There is no reason to believe that any seniors will not graduate this year because of the peace strike," she said, commenting that preparations are continuing normally.

She said that the administration, while reading printed reports of large numbers of students abandoning the campus, has not been able to ascertain that this is the truth. Using the food system and the resident halls as a gauge, Mrs. Gallerie said that "perhaps some," had gone home for good.

Dr. Neumaier addressed more than 300 members of the campus staff, including civil service employes, at a coffee hour late Tuesday morning with the prime purpose of "showing his appreciation for their consideration during the crisis, according to Mrs. Gallerie.

A portion of these employes had been out of their offices four days during the early stages of the student takeover, but almost all were reported moved back this week. The employes also included the custodial and maintenance staff.

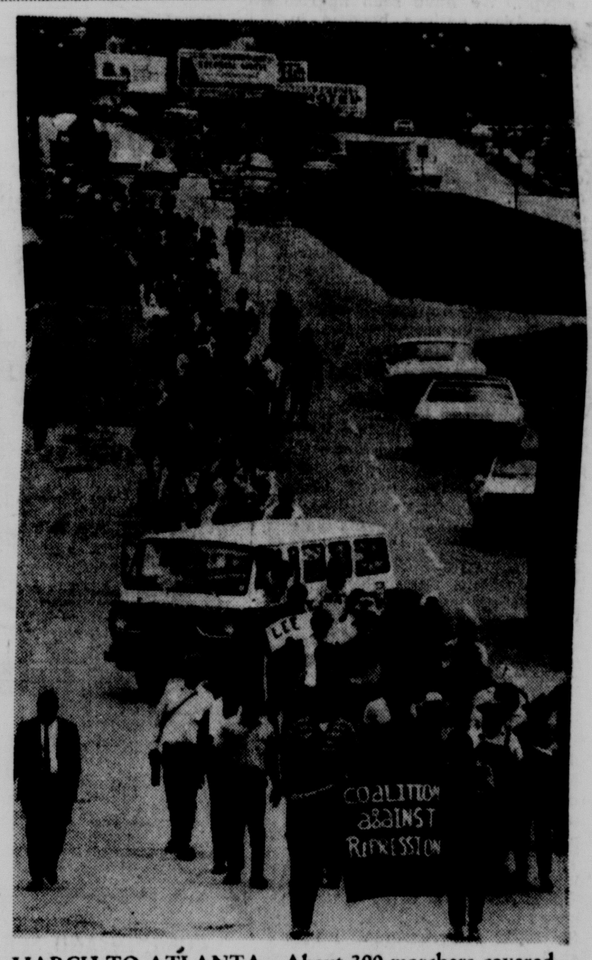

In addressing this group, Dr. Neumaier stressed the need for unanimity of purpose and a striving to prevent polarization on campus.

Regarding the mammoth phone bill run up by students in the peace movement, Mrs. Gallerie reiterated that Dr. Neumaier's pledge that the peace movement will reimburse the state for whatever expenses are incurred. She said that the many estimates being heard were only that, and the university had attempted to gain a more concrete figure from the phone company without any result thus far.

Dr. Neumaier had said repeatedly that the figure of $40,000 is "grossly exaggerated," according to his estimates.

Concerning a homemade flag flown on the 10-story faculty tower Tuesday, student sources said that it was not supposed to be a Viet Cong flag. It consisted of black drapery with a red star sewn on, which prompted construction workers at the college to protest, whereupon it was taken down.

Mrs. Gallerie agreed with a statement that "sometimes people seem to place more emphasis on a piece of cloth than on the real issue."

MARCH TO ATLANTA—About 300 marchers covered only 12 miles on the first day of a 110-mile trek to Atlanta. The march, sponsored by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is scheduled to arrive in Atlanta on May 23. The marchers are plodding behind a wagon drawn by a white mule named "George Wallace." They are protesting alleged violent "repression" of dissent. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

HERE WE GO AGAIN — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who struck an unsuspecting Doug Sanders with a golf ball in a recent match, proved he can handle a tennis racket as well as a golf club. Playing in a charity exhibition between the Nixon Administration and Congress, Agnew returned a hard serve from New York Senator Jacob Javits directly into the head of his doubles partner, Peace Corps Director Joseph H. Blatchford. The "victim" left the court and returned moments later with a motorcycle helmet. Sanders heard of the latest incident and sent Blatchford a telegram with this advice: "Keep ducking." Nixon Asks Gas Tax Hike To Offset Huge Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, conceding his predicted budget surpluses for this fiscal year and next have turned into red-ink deficits, has called for a tax on leaded gasoline to raise $1.6 billion a year more in government funds and fight pollution.

Other revenue increases to balance the budget will not be sought, said Budget Director Robert P. Mayo, because higher taxes "would be inappropriate when we have an increase in unemployment."

Another administration spokesman told Southern businessmen to forget about wage and price controls as a means of halting continuing inflation.

The announcements were made Tuesday as the administration sought to reassure investors and businessmen they can count on "a new steadiness of progress."

Nixon, who said in February a balanced budget was crucial to control inflation, said declining revenues and rising federal costs would result in a $1.8 billion deficit in the 1970 fiscal year ending June 30 and a $1.3 billion deficit for fiscal 1971.

Nixon had predicted a $1.5 billion surplus for the current fiscal year and a $1.3 billion surplus for the following fiscal year.

Sagging corporate profits were cited as the reason for the 1970 deficit.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, in a speech written for him at the White House, told the Delta Council in Cleveland, Miss., they can count on "a new steadiness of progress."

The stock market's sinking spells, he added, are "based on fears rather than facts." When asked about wage and price controls to stabilize the economyn Mitchell replied, "Forget about them."

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, ranking Republican on the Senate-House Economic Committee, urged Nixon in a Senate speech Tuesday to pay more serious attention "to the urgent need for an income policy which would put more restraint" on wages, prices and interest rates.

Nixon said in a statement the administration remains "determined to curb inflation." But he added:

"Frankly, my concern about unemployment and my desire to bring about price stability without economic dislocation is why the campaign to control inflation cannot be accomplished quickly."

Tax revenues this fiscal year, Nixon said, are running about $3 billion below expectations.

The proposed tax on lead in gasoline would boost the cost of motor fuel by an average of 2.3 cents a gallon, spokesmen said, and is intended to reduce and eventually eliminate the additive in gasoline.

The budget deficits, the President said, would be permitted to avoid the possibility of a recession and higher unemployment.

If another deficit appears probable for fiscal 1972, Mayo added, "I would not hesitate to ask the Congress for further increases in taxes when I present my new budget in January."

One Other Proposal

The only other proposal to increase government revenues was made earlier this year. It calls for accelerating the collection of estate and gift taxes.

In another development, a report by a private government information service released Tuesday said withdrawal from Vietnam could result in "nonexistent" benefits to the civilian economy because the war funds would be consumed by other areas of the budget, including defense

Mao Raps Nixon

HONG KONG (UPI) — Chinese Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung appealed to the people of the world today to unite to defeat "U.S. imperialism" and predicted that revolutions in the United States and abroad would bring down the "fascistic" Nixon administration.

Although Mao warned that "the danger of a new world war still exists, and the people of all countries must get prepared," he made no threats against the United States and gave no indication that Communist China would send troops into Indochina.

PETER GENERO

Rosendale Man on Vietnamization—Big Strides

By JEAN F. DOLAN

ROSENDALE

The U.S. military thrust into Cambodia may not step up the schedule for Vietnamization, but it will certainly aid the South Vietnamese in continuing their progress toward that goal.

This was the view of Peter Genero of Rosendale just returned from a four-year stint in Saigon as chief of logistics for the U.S. State Department in that area. Although based in Saigon, Genero toured the entire country assisting the South Vietnamese in setting up plans and programs for pacification, refugee aid and social welfare.

During the last four years, Genero noted the tremendous strides made by the South Vietnamese in setting their civilian life to rights. He said that in 1966 the country was in an economic shambles and disorganization reigned. War had severed transportation routes and refugees flooded into the villages and cities.

At the time Genero went to South Vietnam, approximately 200 Americans were assisting with civilian programs. Assisting was not quite the word, however, as they were handling all details of shipping and distribution of U.S. aid materials such as food and construction items.

In four short years, it has become an efficient South Vietnamese operation and American aides have been reduced to 100. It is estimated that within the next two to two and half years all advisors will be out of the area.

Genero pointed to the outstanding success story of the Port of Saigon as an example of the progress of the programs. The port with the help of mechanized methods now handles more and loses less than at any other time in its history. A history of checks and balances on sign-off of commodities has produced an enviable record of no losses of general cargo in its last 18 months and only seven-tenths of one per cent loss due mainly to spoilage or breakage.

Tracing the commodities right down to the hamlet level of distribution there was only a two per cent loss. Genero credits the natural tendency of the Vietnamese to keep meticulous records and to believe in controls as the reason for their adaptability to the "audit trail."

In other areas, they have made tremendous strides in restoring transportation and communication, building housing to accommodate the influx of refugees and farm folk to the cities; bringing the agricultural economy back to bread basket status. He explained that South Vietnam lost its extensive food export economy during the black years. However, within the past four years through use of improved seed and fertilizers the farm population is producing more on less land and expect to be back exporting rice within a year. Hog and chicken farming has been stepped up through the policy of self-help also.

The metropolitan areas have seen rapid growth and have met the challenge with adequate housing, improved services and "more than enough jobs for every man, woman and child." Shortages, however, are acute in areas of health and teaching personnel. Although education programs have been stepped up to meet the need, it takes time to train qualified doctors and teachers so that the lack will be felt for at least a few more years.

Genero, who went with the State Department after 26 years in the U.S. Army, leaves for Washington this week where he will assume duties as an International Trade Specialist buying bulk commodities such as food, fertilizer and cement — "anything that comes in shipload lots." The former lieutenant colonel noted with pride the progress made in Vietnam, commending the people for their desire to help themselves on the road to stabilization.

Rep. Fish For Aid To Israel

POUGHKEEPSIE

Stating that the Israel-Arab conflict has "entered a new phase", Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. called for a continuation of our commitment to Israel through the sale of additional arms.

"Only in this way," said the congressman yesterday while speaking at the Poughkeepsie Jewish Community Center, "will Israel be able to continue as an outpost of freedom."

Congressman Fish, outlining his efforts both on the floor of the House of Representatives and with the Administration to make his conviction clear, said, "an apparent lack of firm support of Israel could lead to a Soviet Union miscalculation of American intentions in the Middle East." He declared this could bring about a direct confrontation between the superpowers.

"While we have concentrated on Hue and Saigon, the Soviet Union has placed a major fleet in the Mediterranean for the first time in its history and has developed major bases in Egypt.. We have seen aggressive Arab nations become increasingly mortgaged to the Soviet Union—increasingly under Soviet influence," Rep. Fish said in support of the sale of arms to Israel.

Citing the time delay between the placement of an order for complicated aircraft and their delivery, Rep. Fish said the question of additional arms to Israel must not remain in the study stage, but must be immediately implemented.

Rep. Fish pointed to the escalation caused by the introduction of Russian technicians and SAM-3 ground-to-air missles as a real dilemma for Israel which includes the probability of confronting Russian military forces manning these latest Soviet weapons systems. Added to this problem, he said, is the report of Russian pilots actually flying missions over Egypt.

"Israel's call for arms sale squarely meets the test of the Nixon Doctrine of supplying arms for a nation fighting for its survival against Soviet supported aggression—a nation, the existence of which is in the vital interest of the United States," Rep. Fish said.

The congressman said he favors the installation of a "hot line" between Washington and Jerusalem "to enable Prime Minister Golda Meir and President Nixon to clarify any misunderstanding directly and promptly, as friends should. The existence of such a hot line would reassure Israel and deter those who would drive a wedge between Israel and the United States," Congressman Fish said.

Metropolitan Hearing...Short and Sweet

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Kingston Common Council held a brief public hearing last night in which only two persons, both in favor, spoke on a proposal by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to build in the uptown urban renwal area.

The meeting was called to order by Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, president of the Council at 7:35. It was all over at 8 p.m.

Speakers included Edwin Lancaster, senior vice president of Metropolitan Life and John McCullough an architect and a member of the Mayor's Architectural Review Board for the uptown project.

Lancaster, noting that Metropolitan opened its first office in Kingston in 1897, said that the new facility would serve as an adjunct to the company's New York City home office.

McCullough, an architect with Harry Halverson, said that the design of the proposed building was in accord with architecture in the uptown area and had been approved by the architecural review board.

No one spoke against the Metropolitan proposal.

Gallo, in opening the meeting, asked for a moment's silent prayer in memory Edwin Bahl, a recreation commissioner and Cornelius Heitzman, father of Alderman John P. Heitzman (D-First Ward). Both men died yesterday. Gallo also anounced that the Council would pay their respects to Mr. Heitzman on Thursday at 8 p.m.

The Council is expected to go into session on Monday to vote on the Metropolitan proposal. Gallo said he had planned to call the alderman back into session this week but that Mayor Francis R. Koenig asked him to call the meeting next week.

DEMS PLAN DINNER—Members of the Democratic Party finalized plans for their annual county dinner, to be held this year on June 4 at the Fallsview Hotel in Ellenville with State Comptroller Arthur Levitt as the guest speaker. Grand Marshal Selected For Memorial Day Parade

KINGSTON — Kingston Veterans Association this week announced that Joseph E. Sills Sr., will be the grand marshal for this year's Memorail Day parade in Kingston.

The local Catholic War Veterans Post is in charge of arrangements.

Sills was the 20th veteran to serve as commander of Kingston Post 150 American Legion, and the only one who was wounded in action on Sept. 29, 1918. He was decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart.

He was born on Nov. 6, 1892 in Kingston and enlisted in the Army on June 5, 1917, as a private in Company "M", and later was assigned to the Medical Department of the 107th Regiment of Infantry, 27th Division. Because of the wounds he spent much time in hospitals in Rouen, France; Birmingham and Liverpool, England; and Fort McHenry, Md. Prior to his enlistment he was an iron moulder, and from the fall of 1938 until his retirement in Nov. 1962, he was employed by the Kingston Board of Education as engineer at

JOSEPH E. SILLS SR.

Myron J. Michael School.

Sills was a lieutenant in the famous Kingston Post Fife and Drum Corps in which he played the fife, and on many occassions acted as drum major. During the 15 years of the Drum Corps (1927-1942) he was fortunate to travel throughout the country participating in the many Legion conventions. They were honored by being selected by the Governor of Texas to lead the 1928 National Legion Convention in San Antonio, Tex. The Corps' final appearance was at the state convention in Albany in 1939.

He was recently honored twice for his outstanding service to the American Legion during his 50 years of membership and was presented with a citation by the American Legion Department of New York for his more than 20 years of active participation in the Legion's Boys State program. His most recent honor was that of being elected into Life Membership of his local post.

He is currently the only surviving past commander of Post 150 (1938-39), whose son, Joseph Jr., has also served as commander (1959-60).

Sills resides at 159 Smith Avenue with his wife Hilda, daughter, Grace and son, James. He is also the father of William Murray, Mrs. Janet Norton, Mrs. Hilda Pugliese and Joseph Jr., all of Kingston.

Food Stamp Program Boon to Economy in County

KINGSTON — About $149,000 is being added to Ulster County's economy in the form of food purchasing power as the result of the Federal Food Stamp Program, a year old June 2.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service, low income families in the county have paid about $328,000 for food stamp coupons valued at $477,000 since the program started in June 1969. The difference of $149,000 represents the increase in food sales that has directly benefited county food merchants. About 1,700 persons participate in the program each month.

Currently there are 73 food retailers and one wholesaler in the county authorized by USDA to accept coupons. Many of these grocers have increased their sales substantially in meat and dairy products as well as in produce items since the program started. USDA studies indicate that in established food stamp areas food sales increase substantially.

Under the program, which is administered jointly by the USDA's Food and Nutrition Service and the New York Department of Social Services, eligible low income families invest the money they would normally use to buy food each month, in coupons that have a greater monetary value. These coupons may then be spent at authorized grocers for the produced food products and some specified imported foods. Grocers redeem the coupons at face value at local banks or authorized wholesalers.

Although the local welfare department is responsible for certifying recipients, low income families not receiving public assistance may also be eligible to receive food stamp coupons.

Rate Increase Is Upheld for Water Firms

RED HOOK — The Public Service Commission upheld an application for water rate increases by Annandale and College Park Water Corporations after an eight-hour public hearing at the Red Hook Town Hall Monday.

The hearing began at 11 a.m., and was concluded at 7:30 p.m. after lengthy legal arguments and questionings were given.

President of the water companies, Pon Y. Yang, testified for five hours, producing the companies' reasons for the change in procedure from a flat rate to a metered system. He said that the companies have been losing money since 1959.

Numerous area residents, who have been protesting the effective hike in water rates in developments of Linden Acres, College Park, and Colonial Manor, were represented by counsel.

The rate is now $15 for the first 9,000 gallons per quarter, and $1.50 per thousand afterwards. The flat rate was $15 per quarter.

The Public Service Commission will review the situation again after a year has passed with a vew toward making any necessary changes.

Pure Waters Grant for City Good, Bad: Mayor

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell has announced that the state has approved $742,057 toward a $2,473,524 state-mandated secondary sewage treatment plant for the city of Kingston.

As Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig sees it, that's good. What isn't so good, in the eyes of the mayor, is that the city is going to have to raise another $990,000 as it's share.

"I'm not against the program," the mayor said today when informed of Bell's press release. "It's just that we should be involved in the planning for these programs when they directly affect us. But, the program is mandated and we'll have to comply."

Koenig said he has been meeting with officials from the state health department which oversees the pure waters program in an effort to work out alternatives for the city's payment of the 40 per cent of the cost.

One possibility discussed was that the state would build the sewage treatment plant and the city would lease it from them.

Under the program, the state pays 30 per cent of the cost and the federal government picks up an equal share. There is some doubt as to whether federal funds are available although legislation is in effect.

According to Bell's statement, the new facility, to be located adjacent to the city's primary sewage treatment plant on The Strand, will provide for the expansion of that plant by adding aerations tanks, final settling tanks, control building, sludge thickener and chlorine contact plant.

"The treatment plant will serve almost the entire city of Kingston and some outlying areas," Bell said. "It will have a capacity of 4.8 million gallons a day."

The outlying area generally referred to is the Town of Esopus. Reportedly, city officials were to meet with town officials to discuss cost sharing. There has been no word from either on any discussions.

The state has ordered that final plans for the secondary sewage treatment plant be submitted by November of this year. Brinnier and Larios, the city's engineers on the project, have indicated that they will meet that deadline. Construction is expected to begin next summer for completion in early 1973.

Other area applications for pure waters construction grants were approved by the governor for Town of Ulster, Village of Millbrook in Dutchess County and Village of Coxsackie in Greene County.

Town of Ulster grant for waste water treatment facilities was $513,300. Total estimated cost of the project is $1,711,000. Design engineers are J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates of Rensselaer.

Waste water treatment facilities at Millbrook got a state grant approval for $122,400. The Coxsackie grant is for $448,530 toward construction of intercepter sewers, two pump stations and a sewage treatment plant, all designed to help control pollution of the Hudson River.

Saugerties School Board Approves Austerity Budget

SAUGERTIES — Saugerties Central School District will operate on a contingency budget during the 1970-71 scool year, by unanimous vote of the Board of Education members. The $5,220,281.01 proposed budget, which the Board had adopted on April 20, was soundly defeated on May 6 by a vote of 1429 to 621. In the face of this mandate from the voters, board members expressed the feeling that adoption of a contingency budget was indicated. Several persons present at the board meeting Monday, evidenced the opinion that the board ought to re-submit the same budget; others stated that they felt the public would vote favorably on a budget which showed some cuts.

A Board of Education statement today noted the Saugerties budget has, for a number of years, been one of the very lowest on a per pupil cost basis in the Mid-Hudson area, reflecting the fact that the board has worked very hard to keep the cost of education as low as possible and still provide fine educational opportunities.

Details of the contingency budget will be worked out at a later meeting; however, State mandates require that the following cannot be included in a contingency budget: Use of buildings where cost to the district is involved; capital expenditures; public library support; library books; field trips; textbooks for kindergarten through grade six; transportation for elementary pupils who live less than two miles from the school to which they are assigned or a bus route, and transportation less than three miles for junior and senior high school pupils; school lunch program; interscholastic athletics, and uniforms. The Board must decide which expenditures, other than those above, are essential to the education program, to preserve property, and to assure health and safety.

In other action, the Board of Education ratified the agreement with the Saugerties Teachers Association for the 1970-71 school year. The contract gave Saugerties teachers an across-the-board increase of $500 in addition to the regular increments of the salary schedule. The beginning salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience will thus increase from $6,800 to $7,300. The contract also provides that teachers who submit evidence of having completed approved graduate study will receive $17.50 per each semester hour of study. This is an increase of $2.50 over the figure of $15 last year. The contract also provides that the district would pay 100 per cent of teachers' Blue Cross - Blue Shield and major medical insurance premium as well as 50 per cent of the premium for their family members.

Last year the contract called for 50 per cent district contribution for employes and 35 per cent for the families. In addition to the five days of emergency leave presently granted without pay deduction, one of these days may now be used for personal reasons and will not require authorization.

Agreement on the contract was finally reached after Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, Superintendent of Schools, had reported to the Public Employees Relations Board that an impasse existed and Alfred Dresner, a Poughkeepsie attorney, was appointed as a factfinder. The major factor preventing an early agreement was based on a teacher demand that the board guarantee not to exceed class sizes above 25 for kindergarten and grades one through three, and above 30 in the other grades. Representatives of the district insisted that class sizes could not be guaranteed because enrollments change constantly during the school year, all elementary school facilities will be in use next year, and changes in transportation to move pupils from school to school would be difficult and costly. It was finally agreed that the contract would continue to read as it has in previous years.

Fatals in Columbia and Orange

HUDSON — Two persons lost their lives in traffic mishaps in the Mid-Hudson Valley area Tuesday, one on the outskirts of the City of Hudson in Columbia County and the other at New Windsor, Orange County.

Rocco Melino, 48, of Hudson, was killed when a construction vehicle he was driving failed to negotiate a curve and overturned on him just outside the city, police reported.

Mrs. Carol Case, 34-year-old housewife of New Windsor died when her car was pushed into the path of a tractor-trailer truck at an intersection on Route 32. Authorities said Mrs. Case was stopped at the intersection when her car was struck from the rear and pushed into the path of the oncoming truck.

Neither the driver of the truck, Dallas Reeder, 34 of Poughkeepsie, nor the driver of the other car, Mrs. Susan Elliot, 21, of Cobleskill, were seriously injured. Troopers said the mishap is under investigation and arrests are pending.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 20, 1970

Your Federal Tax $984

Fortunately for most people, there is no known movement to share federal taxes equally among all Americans, but if there were, the pro rata tax would come to $981. This figure is estimated by the Tax Foundation, Inc., a nonprofit organization specializing in taxes.

This is the way the estimate is reached: The proposed fiscal 1971 budget—starting July 1, 1970—anticipates collecting $202 billion, or 984 per capita. That will be an increase of $2.7 billion, or $3 per capita, over the $981 currently estimated for the 1970 fiscal year, which ends June 30 next.

We are all aware of the increased cost of living in the quarter of a century since the second World War, but it is doubtful if many costs have multiplied as much as the taxes to support the federal government. In the years before the war, budget receipts ran in amounts less than $50 per person. Now they are nearly 20 times that.

Even in the past decade, federal budget receipts have almost doubled. In fiscal 1960, they equalled $517 per person. What has happened in the past decade, and earlier in the decade and a half before, can be charged to three huge developments in American life. They are welfare payments, support for education, and national defense. Only because of the latter have we been free to pursue the first two and other improvements. Of the three, the ratio of increase for welfare, the support of human beings, has outstripped all else.

Reducing the multi-billion dollar federal receipts figures to per person levels shows some wide variations in the impact of federal tax collections among the 50 states. Based on 1969 population figures — the latest available state populations—the burden of the proposed federal budget varies from a low of $505 per person in Mississippi to a high of $1,421 in Connecticut.

Hire Viet Vets Campaign

One campaign we can all eagerly join calls for hiring veterans of the war in Vietnam. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird announced it in Detroit, when he said the Pentagon will soon launch a program to "locate a job for every veteran."

The Defense Department needs help from all sectors of the country to find worthwhile jobs for many of the two million men and women who will be leaving the armed services in the next two years, Laird told the Economic Club of Detroit.

A major thrust will be aimed at encouraging service men and women to return to school or otherwise take advantage of their GI bill of rights by taking loans to enable them to go into business for themselves. The aim is to put the veterans in useful occupations.

Laird stressed that the Defense Department spends $2.6 billion a year for education, both academic and vocational, to qualify people for civilian jobs. The Viet vets are ready to take their place in the economic system. Those of us who stayed at home while they and their comrades risked their lives have a chance now to show our gratitude by giving them jobs.

Apple Blossom Time

This is apple blossom time in the abounding Hudson Valley fruit belt and no more beautiful sight can be imagined. The pink buds have opened and the white petals are showing. The apple blossom spectacular will be here for a short time for soon the blossoms will fall and the fruit begins to grow.

The annual rebirth of the blossoms in the spring and their gradual transformation through the summer into bountiful ripe fruit are the processes of nature. But nature doesn't set out the trees in rows and cultivate them. These things must be done by the farmer and his constant care of the trees goes on for years before returns begin on his investment. Apples "grow on trees," but they also grow out of hard work, knowledge and a willingness to take financial risks.

It is a heart-stirring sight to see thousands of trees in bloom in the Hudson Valley—carefully pruned, sprayed and tended by the farmers. The beauty and serenity of the orchards are comforting reassurance in a world of great uncertainties and violence that a greater power remains unaffected by mortal frailities.

When the House of Representatives gave a standing ovation to its dean, Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, on his 82nd birthday, they honored his service of 42½ years in Congress. Only two others exceed his all-time seniority in the House, Carl Vinson of Georgia, who retired with slightly more than 50 years; and the late Sam Rayburn of Texas, 48 years and 8 months. Celler has a chance to establish a new record.

Observing that recruits begin their basic training high in morale, only to have it lowered by barking drill sergeants, the Army is issuing reward cards to be punched daily for good credits. Enough credits will be "cashed in" for special privileges. The idea is that military discipline can be fun.

"I Spoke to Her and All She Said Was 'X!?XZ!XX!!'"

David Lawrence Says
Defeatist Attitude Sweeps Certain Segments of Congress

WASHINGTON — Very few points of agreement are visible nowadays in political circles. But one is beginning to stand out strongly — that the Vietnam War will not be ended by negotiation.

All hope of working out an agreement vanished when pressure was exerted on the Nixon administration to begin to withdraw troops from South Vietnam. The halting of the bombing by President Johnson did not bring about any progress at the Paris talks, and now the North Vietnamese are convinced that the United States is committed to a steady pullout of its forces.

If any emphasis on the point were needed, the activities of prominent Senators who are drafting a resolution which would dictate to the commander-in-chief that American forces must be taken out of South Vietnam by the end of 1971 are serving as a pertinent argument.

It may take another year and a half for a large body of American troops to be withdrawn. But so far as the North Vietnamese are concerned, they undoubtedly feel that they can resume major operations against the South Vietnamese when any substantial number of American troops have gone home.

President Nixon has tried hard to convey the impression that withdrawal of American troops was not necessarily to be finalized in a year and a half, and that our forces might return to Vietnam if major offensives against South Vietnam are resumed. It is suspected in some quarters that this was one of the reasons for his authorization of the raids on the Communist "sanctuaries" in Cambodia. But whatever psychological advantage was sought in that direction has been lost now, by reason of the position taken by members of Congress who flatly say that they will not appropriate any money for further operations in Cambodia. This may even be extended to any resumption of the fighting in Vietnam.

The net of it all is that a defeatist attitude has been sweeping certain segments of Congress. All the sacrifices that have been made in the last several years to save South Vietnam from Communist oppression are being disregarded and could prove to have been in vain. But it doesn't seem to matter very much to a number of senators and representatives who have decided that, no matter what happens, American troops in Vietnam must be brought home by the end of 1971 at the latest.

If the resolution tying the hands of President Nixon in Cambodia is adopted and notice is also served that he must take all troops out of Vietnam as well by a given date, it will be tantamount to a confession throughout Asia that the United States is surrendering its position and accepting defeat.

No such humiliating experience has occurred to America on the international scene in our history. It could have a damaging effect of America's prestige, not only in Asia but in Europe and on other continents.

President Nixon will not acquiesce in such a course without making clear the fatal consequences of the policies being advocated by his adversaries in Congress. He believes that when the United States fights a war, its military commanders should be entitled to use the strategy that will protect their troops and inflict great damage on the enemy.

The invasion of the "sanctuaries" in Cambodia was a deliberate step to safeguard American troops remaining in Vietnam. But many senators chose to scorn completely that argument and insist that Congress must limit the commander-in-chief's power.

The debate is by no means over, and President Nixon doubtless will continue to give his side of the argument. But the Communists have read about the dissent already. They doubtless have come to the conclusion that the United States is being pushed out of Vietnam by its own Congress and within a year or two there will be no American Army left in Asia to protect South Vietnam against a takeover by the Communists.

If the United Nations had acted as it did in Korea, a peacekeeping force could have remained on an armistice line in South Vietnam to keep the invaders from re-entering the territory they had previously invaded. But no such agreement could be made this time as the forces of the United States may not be there to exert such pressure as they did in Korea. Will Congress refuse to maintain American troops in Vietnam after 1971? That's the next question of policy which will have to be settled.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

"Only God knows what is right," said Officer Terence O'Shaughnessy as he stepped out of the still-moving squad car, raced down the sidewalk, and caught Kevin Murphy by the back of the neck, slapped his face, and took two apples from his pocket. The boy held his face and wept bitterly. The cop took the apples back to the fruit stand, placed one in the basket, and bit into the other.

Brownsville was steaming hot. The sun baked the blank-faced flats and bubbled the macadam. The fruit dealer shrugged. "What happened?" The policeman finished the first big bite of apple. "That Murphy kid," he said, pointing down the street. "That no-good Kevin Murphy stole two apples, so I fanned him a little."

"Ah," the fruit dealer said. "For two apples?" Then he burst into laughter. "Then I lose one when you take care of justice." "Listen, Antonio," the cop said, "in this neighborhood, I'm your rabbi. When trouble comes, I'm the man you yell for. I take a 50 per cent commission."

It was a tough neighborhood. If a little boy knew how to fight, he didn't have to learn to walk. It was a part of Brooklyn where hoodlums, murderers and the slow-witted dropped out of the ninth grade at the same time. Poverty was farina for dinner; it was also a folded newspaper inside a holey sole; it was credit; comakers; cops; sexual deviates, and candy stores.

Officer Terence O'Shaughnessy knew the streets and the people as intimately as he knew his big nose. He had never married, perhaps because in World War II his best girl ran off to California with someone else. Perhaps. Perhaps not. He was a tough, religious man who, no matter what the pinch, always said that "Only God knows what is right."

If he had a heart, it was in the hands of his niece, Clare. She was a frail, nervous girl who tried hard to please. She did well in her studies, but few men ever looked at her until Kevin Murphy came along. He was no longer 12. And he never stole apples. His specialty was pier thievery. And beating old watchmen.

Kevin fell for Clare. And she — well, what good is it to talk sense to a girl? Uncle Terrence got red in the face and said that if she saw that rat, Kevin Murphy, again, he would never speak to her. Clare married Kevin. She could not see him for what he was — a conscienceless sadist.

He didn't beat her often. Only when she questioned his judgment, asked for food money. Little things. Many times on the street, she saw Uncle Terence, and tears came to her eyes, but he always turned his back and walked away.

Success is an unfortunate accident. It brings additional responsibilities and more opportunities to fail. Officer O'Shaughessy made sergeant, and, six years later, the detective division. He was gray now, and stouter, a stern man in a plain brown suit and a cheap fedora.

Kevin Murphy made good too. He had a precinct sheet with 14 arrests and no convictions. He had his own gang and his own bodyguards. One day he placed his revolver in a drawer and said to Clare: "I don't need this anymore. I travel with four guys — well heeled." She, too, traveled with four guys — all little children.

Kevin took a long, long look at his skinny wife one day and gave up. He could have almost anything he wanted around Times Square, so why should a man kill himself with a flat-chested woman who looked consumptive? He left. And sent the same small amount of money to Clare every week.

Sometimes he pulled up on the street below in a big black car and suspicious men stepped out first and looked up and down. Then Kevin stepped out. He taunted Clare and showed her big rolls of bills and told her about his beautiful girl friends, and how kind they were to him.

He did it once too often. Clare went berserk. She reached into a drawer and pulled out his gun. He was leaning against the front window sill. She fired once, and saw his surprise through blue smoke.

Detective O'Shaughnessy was the first man on the scene. "What happened?" he said, crouching over the body of Kevin Murphy. Clare wrung her hands and wept. "I shot him," she said. "I—"

"Somebody on the street below shot him," the detective said. "Was the window open or closed?" "Closed," Clare said. The detective looked at the closed window. There was no bullet hole. "It was open," he said. "It's a hot day. Was he facing you or the window?"

"Me," she whispered. He shook his head. "You're off your rocker," he said, examining the chest wound. "He was facing the window. Remember what I'm telling you.

"And bear in mind," he said softly, "only God knows what is right"...

Jack Anderson Says
White House Trying to Stop Peace Corps Talking Peace

WASHINGTON — The White House has been trying to muzzle anti-war talk, of all places, in the Peace Corps. President Nixon's efficient aides, apparently, see nothing illogical about shutting up Peace Corps volunteers who speak out for peace.

The suppression began after Vice President Spiro Agnew came back from his recent Asian tour with reports that young Peace Corps workers were joining the dissent against the Vietnam War. In Afghanistan, for example, 10 Peace Corps people signed an anti-war petition.

After Agnew tattled to the President, Peace Corps director Joe Blatchford was summoned to the White House and asked to muzzle the dissenters. He agreed that Peace Corpsmen, as representatives of the U.S., shouldn't make public statments abroad crtitical of U.S. policies. But at home, he felt they had the right to oppose the war.

He investigated the Afghanistan incident and found that the 10 volunteers had submitted their petition to the American Ambassador. This seemed to Blatchford to be proper.

Budget Threats

When he resisted the attempt to stifle the anti-war sentiment in the Peace Corps, the White House began dropping ominous hints about budget slashes. At one staff meeting, Deputy Director Tom Houser complained that "we are getting intense pressure from the executive branch" to shut off dissent.

Blatchford, a clean-cut, 35-year-old executive raised on Wheaties, has been less valiant about resisting what insiders call the Nixonization of the Peace Corps. One associate describes him as "a Pat Boone figure with newly lowered sideburns."

In a private memo to the Republican members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Blatchford wrote: "We inherited a very difficult situation resulting from volunteers just out of college with strong, liberal views. We have also had to weed out many members of a hostile staff hired during the past eight years of Democratic administration and unwilling to accept the new administration...

"In a little more than a year from now, all volunteers overseas will have been selected during this administration. They will have better screening, training and guidance."

Nixonization Process

Blatchford later reconsidered what he had written, decided it had been indiscreet and sent aides up to Capitol Hill to retrieve the memo. But he has gone ahead with efforts to recruit more volunteers from President Nixon's "silent majority" — farmers, technicians, and skilled laborers.

Insisted a Peace Corps spokesman: "Youth is still the backbone of the Peace Corps and always will be." He explained that several countries had requested volunteers with skills that young people don't possess. "These older volunteers," he said, "are every bit as idealistic as the kids."

Meanwhile, Peace Corps applications are down 30 per cent for the first eight months of the program year ending August 31. Last year, applications dropped 22 per cent.

As part of the Nixonization process, Blatchford has put emphasis on getting business executives to fill staff positions. His staff now includes William Inglis, 38, an Irving Trust Co. vice president; John Mills, 47, a manager from Monsanto Co.; Robert Jorgensen, 55, a wholesaler from Livingston, Mont.; John Guyer, 39, an executive from the American Investment Counseling Co.; and Thomas Roeser, 41, a former public relations man for Quaker Oats.

One staff member, projecting the Nixonization process into the future, remarked wryly: :"I wonder what Latin Americans are going to say when the president of United Fruit shows up as their Peace Corps director."

Behind Nixon's Decision

Several readers have inquired about the policy-making machinery that produced President Nixon's Cambodian decision.

Normally such decisions are ground out by the National Security Council, which has exhaustive intelligence at its disposal. The NSC is guided by overall policy guidelines, which have been prepared with elaborate care.

From the Johnson administration, the NSC had inherited a policy document known as the Foreign Internal Defense Policy, which opposed unilateral, U.S. action in a situation like Cambodia.

The Nixon Security Council reviewed, refined and reshaped this policy into the Nixon doctrine, which calls for an offshore presence but no more onshore involvement in places like Cambodia. The President's decision to send troops into Cambodia, therefore, would appear to be a violation of his own policy.

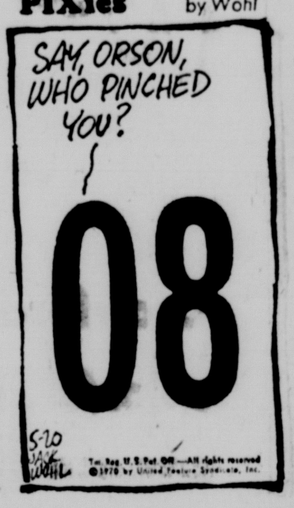

As we reported immediately after the Cambodian move, the decision was based upon the paperwork of a secret task force known as the Washington Special Action Group, headed by the President's national security adviser, Henry Kisinger.

The other members are Joint Chiefs Chairman Earle Wheeler, CIA director Richard Helms, Undersecretary of State Alexis Johnson and Undersecretary of Defense David Packard.

In other words, the NSC was largely bypassed in the Cambodian planning, although the President took up the question with the NSC at two meetings on April 22 and 26.

Footnote: :Ironically, Nixon had been critical of President Johnson for bypassing the NSC and using special groups to fomulate policy. The Foreign Internal Defense Policy, for example, was prepared by the Senior Interdepartmental Group, which Nixon dissolved. At the time, he emphasized to subordinates that the NSC would be his policymaking body.

Involved but Level-Headed

WASHINGTON (NEA) — While the nation's young destroyers in high school and college are busy smashing buildings, burning books and some scholars' lifetime researches, and screaming their lungs out, I am going to talk about a lad of 16 who makes them all look like the mindless fools they are.

This boy also puts to shame the countless soft-headed liberals, especially in what is generously termed the "academic community," who either openly sympathize with the violence of the young marauders or do not have the guts to speak up and assert standards of discipline, of law, of genuine morality and regard for human rights.

The young man I have in mind is, supremely, an individual. And he did not become that by retreating from the overorganized world he finds himself in but by plunging into it.

For at least the last seven years he has been a champion athlete. He is an honor scholar and more than four years ago was reading books at the rate of about 100 a year.

With two years to go before moving into college, he is presently studying Latin, a marvelous discipline largely shunned by today's allegedly "best-educated" generation of students, and wants to dig into Greek, another tough one.

Not content with the studies at his own school, he goes twice a week to night classes at a city university to study Spanish along with students generally two or three years older than he is. He is more than holding his own.

He has understood for a long time the wonder of having a mind and developing it to the fullest. He sees no value in traveling in packs down the street, even if they are peaceful. He sees nothing "activist" about the shouted slogan or the waving placard. Talk alone, however loud and insistent, is not for him.

Properly aroused like many another American by the engulfing problem of pollution, he recently called his city's department concerned with the problem and offered his services. One day a week, after school, he goes down to that office and helps out. He does not think what he is doing there has much real bite to it, but you can bet he will find a way to do more somehow, somewhere.

Population control is another of his big personal concerns. Again, he wants to act. He has not yet figured out how to contribute something on this score, but he is busy looking.

When he looks, he looks everywhere. He erects no senseless barriers that cut him off from the accumulated widsom of living persons "over 30," or the wisdom of the ages gone before. He has no patience with the juvenile nonsense which defines the "relevant" as only that which is happening now or limits history to the events of merely the past few years.

Recently he spent an evening with his 86-year-old grandmother a thousand miles from his own home. She remarks upon his intense curiosity about her and her ideas.

When he was 12, he questioned me one evening for an hour or more about the nature and working of my business. His inquiries were keener and more perceptive than any I have ever had either from other young people or from 90 per cent of the adults who have showed any interest at all.

He is a hard, day-long worker in an age when thousands of young alibi artists try to demean the "work ethic" to excuse their love of total ease — which they interrupt only periodically with ceremonies of violence they fradulently characterize as "activism" and "dissent." They have tried, in vain, to transform worklessness into an idealistic faith, into a kind of magic that will make over the world in a flashing instant.

My young friend of 16 knows better. Even at age nine, when his incredibly intense dedication was to the sport he mastered, he bore within himself the seed of the real activist. Credit his parents for good guidance and encouragement. But the great mark on this lad is self-discipline. He drives himself to achieve.

Those who want to push the miracle buttons will do little for us in this chaotic world. Real hope resides in this young man and we must all pray that there are thousands upon thousands like him.

College Disorders

Editor, The Freeman:

I am thoroughly disgusted and annoyed with:

1. College administrators and faculty who advocate colleges going on strike to protest our foreign policy and internal affairs which are completely disassociated with the college.

2. Local, state and federal politicians who advocate the same action.

I view this approach to these problems as being completely irresponsible, immature and unrealistic.

The above individuals state that the students who strike or miss classes should not be penalized. I assume this also applies to faculty members with regard to their salaries. This can be compared to the Ford or G. M. employees going on strike against their employers to protest some legislation and expect the business firm they are crippling to provide them with their normal wages.

I think our state authorities should dismiss the faculty, administrators and students who support and are active in these strikes. I also believe that the voters should vote for leaders who do not advocate appeasement and compromise which stimulates anarchy.

I am a registered Democrat who is going to vote for the candidate, of any party, who has the backbone to help put a stop to college disorders and will protect the freedoms and rights of the total community.

Loyal American Club
141 St. James Street
Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman:

Have been reluctant writing you this letter for fear you thinking it just another crank letter or looking for cheap publicity. However the progress made in organizing the Loyal American Club has encouraged me.

The Loyal American Club has been or will be organized in every state, city, town and hamlet of our United States of America. In the near future the clubs now organized will hang their banners on the same day. If this letter is published, it may help in bringing together loyal American citizens in districts that are not organized.

Our United States of America that our forefathers fought for so that their children would have a free law abiding country to live in has become the dumping and boiling pot of the world. Our mothers, wives and children have a fear of walking the streets and going to church.

We can't build stockades around ourselves any more for protection. That leaves us with only one alternative. Remove from our National and State governments all those old fixtures and doves, who have almost let our country reach the point of no return.

May I please ask that the articles written by Robert L. Post, "Red Rules for Revolution," be published again. I have asked our congressman, Hamilton Fish Jr., for a copy of this article in its entirety.

Our President inherited Southeast Asia when he took office. He is now trying hard to salvage some sort of an honorable peace. All those old fixtures and doves in Washington and the militant groups are making it twice as hard for him. How true the Red Rules of Revolution hit the nail right on the head.

I ask all loyal Americans to band together, so that we can keep our United States of America free. We can do this by letting our President and congressmen know how we feel by writing a letter to them.

Most respectfully,
JOHN DeGRAFF

College Campus Violence

Editor, The Freeman:

I am asking that this letter be printed in your paper, as I did others, so that it may serve as some sort of an appeal to what is probably known as the "old establishment" whoever and wherever they may be in this society of ours.

Having just spent days of watching violence spread across our nation on just about every college campus, and or, while not engaging in violence, they were closing their doors, canceling classes, my own son's included, which is a State University, I feel compelled to write to someone of our heads of state, seeking answers to just how much our laws and our country will allow today in acts of violence before we decide to stand united in changing what ever need be changed.

I choose Congressman Ham Fish since he represents our district in Washington. And I believe a great deal must be done to change the college administration ethics before we can ever hope to change our young people. Herewith is the text of my letter in part:

I wonder seriously, what our nation is going to come to when the series of violence that has erupted throughout our country, is allowed to continue without so much as a threat to even the privilege of attending college. "Yes," I call it a privilege, because it was not so easily granted to me, or many of my generation. Perhaps our tax dollars being spent on our great expansion program for higher education facilities for all, since it appears not justified, should be cut back.

I wonder seriously, where the old terminology "expelled" has gone? Not too many years ago, a student jeopardized his education in any school system, by a mere infraction of any administrative rule. Today, we are faced with the burning of $85,000 buildings and still have crowded colleges after they have paid the fine—(maybe)!

I wonder seriously, why the action of these students and more emphatically, the Facility, are allowed to go so far, that our National Guard is needed? Certainly the step towards stricter administration laws for all schools of education, and the power to enforce them, would eliminate the recent tragedies, plus the continued campus riots for one reason or another. Perhaps the private college would be able to abstain from any ruling, but I see no reason why our State Universitys or County colleges, supported by every taxpayer with either federal, state or county monies, could not be governed! Thousands of dollars have been wasted already this year on demonstrations of some nature, and yet we all seem so concerned with the money being wasted by our nation's leaders.

I wonder seriously, if we could incite these young people enough to take a good look at their fellow students using drugs of some nature, and then start a protest across our country for that cause? This problem may not be necessarily killing, but it certainly is destroying. Not nearly the total of Vietnam, but enough!

I wonder seriously, if these young people should be given the right to vote at 18? I rather doubt that they have earned that right. I ask that some answers to these problems be sought. I have one son in the U.S. Navy, and one in a State U. I would like to think I will always be able to be proud of both of them. A more "united" stand in our country is needed for all of us to achieve this. I believe the start of that lies behind the college administration doors. Communism is a very slow spreading disease, but it definitely has the means to destroy. Perhaps the teaching of "respect" for our country, and its "President" and the trust and love of "God" would help.

Student Unrest on Campus

Editor, The Freeman:

Yesterday, I received from one of my constituents, a reprint of a letter authored by a history professor at the University of Montana which puts into words my exact sentiments concerning the student unrest on the campus today, and to be more definitive, the Ulster County Community College Campus. I would like to quote some passages from this letter . .

"What we need is a reappraisal of our own middleclass selves, our worth and hard-won progress. We need to use disdain, not Mace, we need to reassess a weapon we came by the hard way, by travail and labor, firm authority as parents, teachers, businessmen, workers and politicians.

The vast majority of our children from 1 to 20 are fine kids. We need to back this majority with authority and with the firm conviction that we owe it to them and to ourselves. Enough of apology, enough of analysis, enough of our abdication of responsibility, enough of the denial of our own maturity and good sense.

The best place to start is at home. But, the most practical and most effective place right now, is our campuses. This does not mean a flood of angry edicts, a sudden clamp down, a "new" policy. It simply means that faculties should stop playing chicken, that demonstrators should be met not with police but with expulsions. The power of expulsion has been the legitimate recourse of universities for centuries.

More importantly, it means that at freshman orientation, whatever form it takes, the administration should set forth the ground rules — not beligerently, but forthrightly.

A university is the microcosm of society itself. It cannot function without rules for conduct. It cannot, as society cannot, legislate morals. It is dealing with young men and women, 18 to 22.

But it can, and must, promulgate rules. It cannot function without order — and therefore, who disrupts order must leave. It cannot permit students to determine when, what and where they shall be taught; it cannot permit the occupation of its premises, in violation both of the law and its regulations, by "militants."

There is room within the university complex for basic student participation but there is no room for slobs, disruption and violence. The first obligation of the administration is to lay down the rules early, clearly and positively, and to attach to this statement the penalty for violation. It is profoundly simple — and the failure to state it — in advance — is the salient failure of university administrators in this age.

Expulsion is a dreaded verdict. The administration merely needs to make it clear, quite dispassionately, that expulsion is the enevitable consequence of violation of the rules. Among the rules, even though it seems gratuitous, should be these:

Violence, armed or otherwise, the forceful occupation of buildings, the intimidation by covert or overt act of any student or faculty member or administrative personnel, the occupation of any university property, field, park, building, lot or other place, shall be cause for expulsion.

The disruption of any class, directly or indirectly, by voice of presence or the destruction of any university property, shall be cause for expulsion.

This is a country full of decent, worried people. It is also a country full of people fed-up with nonsense. We need to reassert our hard won prerogatives. It is our country, too. We have fought for it, bled for it, dreamed for it, and we live in it. It is time to reclaim it."

In Wednesday evening's edition of the Daily Freeman, there was a Letter to the Editor which was contributed by Mark Stevens, a student at Ulster County Community College. Mark evidently, is one of the vast majority of students at Ulster County Community College who is honest, forthright and sincere in pursuing his educational interests but is trampled and trodden on by the very vocal minority of students and faculty who preach the democratic principles but only on their terms. Mark suggested that the taxpayers should write to the college officials and government officials to express their sentiment. I would welcome any and all correspondence on this issue and strongly urge everyone who has not yet read Mark's letter to do so.

Very truly yours,

In Memoriam

In loving and tender memories of our dearly beloved son and brother, Owen J. Smith, who left us on May 20, 1966.

It is not from the tall crowded warehouse of prosperity that men find or clearly see the Eternal stars of Heaven.

It is often from the humble spot, where we have laid our dear ones, that we find our best observatory, which gives us glimpses into the far-off world of never ending time.

Our love and prayers are ever with you, Dearest One.

A Rocky No for School Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A bill to require school districts to estimate their tax rates when submitting a proposed budget to the voters fell before Gov. Rockefeller's veto Tuesday. He complained that it was unclear.

The bill had to be disapproved, Rockefeller said, because it was intended to become effective immediately.

"Many school districts throughout the state are in the middle of the process of submitting their budgets," he said. "The addition of this requirement with an immediate effective date leaves it totally unclear whether a district that has begun its advertisement of the budget . . . would be required to readvertise in accordance with this new provision."

"Accordingly," he said, "approval of the bill could leave the validity of many school budgets in the state approved by the voters open to serious challenge and promote unnecessary litigation. . ."

The measure was one of several to be acted upon by the governor during the waning hours of the 30-day period for disposing of bills passed by the 1970 legislature. The period began after the adjournment of the legislature and ends today. Bills not signed after today are automatically vetoed — a tactic Rockefeller has never used.

So far, he has signed 949 bills and vetoed 174. At the close of the 1970 session, 1,189 bills were placed before him by the legislature for his decision.

Among the bills signed Tuesday by the governor were three measures intended to broaden efforts to create and expand job opportunities, especially in economically distressed areas.

Among other things, the bills will extend the benefits of the State Urban Job Incentive Program, which encourages businesses to locate or expand in depressed areas, to Troy, Schenectady, Binghamton, Utica, Rome, New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, White Plains and Niagara Falls.

In addition, the program will be broadened to cover 22 counties with a per capita personal income of more than 25 per cent below the state average. These are the counties of Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chenango, Clinton, Columbia, Delaware, Essex, Franklin, Greene, Jefferson, Lewis, Oswego, Otsego, Schoharie, Schuyler, St. Lawrence, Steuben, Tioga, Ulster, Washington, Wyoming and Yates.

Other bills approved by the governor included those that will:

—Coordinate the state's programs of making education available to the economically deprived in New York in public and private colleges.

—Give preference in court actions to those principals who are more than 75 years old.

—Forbid trespassing on Ironside Island in the St. Lawrence River near Alexandira Bay from April to August every year to protect the nesting period of the Blue Heron, which is nearing extinction.

—Establish a state commission to study the courts and recommend changes in its operation and procedures.

—Establish a State College of Optometry within the state university. The state has been without such a college since the closing of the Columbia School of Optometry four years ago.

ROCKY NAMES AIDE—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller puts his arm around Fioravante G. Perrotta at a news conference in which he announced the appointment of Perrotta, a former running mate and top aide to Mayor John Lindsay, to act as New York City director of his campaign for reelection. Rockefeller indicated he did not expect Lindsay's support. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Advantages for Samuels, O'Dwyer

By United Press International

Howard J. Samuels and Paul O'Dwyer — challengers to the Democratic committee endorsed candidates — have won tactical advantages by drawing top spots on the June 23 primary ballot.

In the drawing Tuesday at the secretary of state's office in Albany, Samuels won over gubernatorial candidate Arthur J. Goldberg and O'Dwyer got the top spot in a four-way U.S. Senate race. Even old time politicians I've talked to in Brooklyn, where they've mastered the game, tells me "Forget campaigning and get the number one spot on the ballot," O'Dwyer said after the drawing. "It has its limitations, but it helps in a four-way race."

Theodore Sorensen, the committee candidate, got third spot behind O'Dwyer and Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, and ahead of Rep. Richard McCarthy.

In 1968, O'Dwyer won an upset victory in the primary over two other candidates. All three finished in order of their ballot positions. O'Dwyer said, however, the system should be reformed to allow the order of candidates to be scrambled in various parts of the state.

"It's one hell of a way to elect a U.S. senator—by happenchance of being first on the ballot," O'Dwyer said.

Committee candidates Adam Walinsky, for attorney general, and State Sen. Basil A. Paterson, for lieutenant governor, both got top positions in two-man Democratic races.

No major primaries are taking place in the Republican, Liberal or Conservative parties.

In Republican campaign action Tuesday, Governor Rockefeller declared his support for the Cooper-Church amendment to cut off funds for U.S. forces in Cambodia after June 30, because it was "putting into legislative language the commitment the President has already made personally." Rockefeller also said the Indochina war and student unrest were "issues which will be discussed in this campaign."

A Gold Toilet...But

GENEVA (UPI) — Bernard Cornfeld has made $100 million and lives on Lake Geneva in a 20-room villa with a gold toilet. Yet things are not going well for him.

Cornfeld, who in 10 years built Investors Overseas Services (IOS) from a one-room operation in a Paris hotel to a billion dollar financial complex, was forced to resign as chairman and chief executive last week because the company was faltering.

Since then the 42-year-old bachelor has been in seclusion in his Geneva villa, built for Josephine by Napoleon.

Though he retained a position on the 27-man board of directors of IOS and has many other interests—from girls to racing horses — Cornfeld's career as perhaps the biggest influence on European capitalism is in at least temporary eclipse.

It was outside interests that apparently led to his downfall.

"Bernie" spent much of the past year roaming the world in his jet in the company of various pretty girls and personalities such as Playboy magnate Hugh Hefner.

He affected a beard and wore patterned scarves instead of conventional business suits and ties. Instead of an overcoat, he draped a cloak around his shoulders.

The financial picture at IOS was deteriorating and when Cornfeld came back to take the reins it was too late and he was forced out.

"He put on a white shirt with tie, and a dark suit," an associate remarked. "That meant there was trouble."

IOS assets now have fallen to about $1.9 billion from a peak of $2.3 billion, though European financial experts find it difficult to conceive that it could actually go under.

MRS. HELEN RADAKOVICH

Is Elected To Vacancy By Conservatives

KINGSTON

Mrs. Helen Radakovich has been elected corresponding secretary of the Ulster County Conservative Party to fill a vacancy, according to Harry Hoffman, party chairman.

A staunch advocate of women participating in politics, Mrs. Radakovich, as the new secretary, will organize a committee for "Ballots for Buckley." James Buckley is the Conservative Party candidate for U.S. Senate in New York.

The campaign for him will be launched here by the Conservatives with a fund-raising drive. Women members of the organization will conduct a rummage and cake sale, May 21 and 22, at 702 Broadway.

A city resident for 10 years, she is chairman of the Kingston Area Conservative Party Club, chairman of the desk and escort service at Benedictine Hospital, co-chairman of the Benedictine Auxiliary Ways and Means Committee and treasurer of the Holy Name of Jesus Rosary Society. She ran for alderman in the 11th Ward last year.

Quit Smoking Clinic to Start Sunday Night

The next "Five-Day Plan to Quit Smoking" will be conducted at the George Washington School Auditorium in Kingston from May 24 to 28, Dan W. Schiffbauer, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist Church of 30 Pearl Street and director of the smoking clinic said today.

The previous plan was very successfully conducted with 70 per cent quitting smoking after five days, they added. Many requests have come to the pastor for another clinic. Those who were unable to attend the first plan or need help who attended the previous plan are invited to attend the announced therapy sessions.

Dr. George Wottan, local physician, will explain the harmful effects of smoking on the body. He also will give suggestions on what to eat in order to lessen the craving and to make kicking the habit easier. Pastor Schiffbauer will deal with the psychological aspects of the problem and help smokers to strengthen their will power.

A special feature of this program, at 7:30 nightly, will be the film, "Countdown" which shows an actual lung cancer operation on a heavy smoker.

Pastor Schiffbauer said he is happy that the Ulster County Interagency Council on the Hazards of Smoking, consisting of the American Cancer Society, Ulster County Unit, Mid-Hudson Heart Association and Catskill Branch of TB and RD Association will again cooperate with the Seventh-day Adventist Church in presenting this program to improve health in the community. Fine films from each of these groups will be shown from night to night.

Red Hook VFW Elects Slate

RED HOOK

Henry B. Wurdemann was elected Commander of Red Hook Post 7765, VFW, at a recent meeting.

Other elected officers are John S. Humphrey, senior vice commander; Albert Palumbo, junior vice-commander; Frank Fish, chaplain; Robert Schutte, judge advocate; John Murphy, quartermaster; Douglas Leischauer, surgeon and Louis Rider, trustee.

Installation of officers will be held sometime this month, the date and installing officer to be selected by the commander-elect.

The post's benefit dance for the Red Hook Fire Department Rescue Squad Ambulance fund was held Saturday, May 9.

Post members and friends recently enjoyed a semi-annual social at Memory Hall with dance music furnished by Johnny Menko's band.

Commander Anthony H. Jornov Jr. has asked support for the VFW Buddy Poppy made by disabled veterans. The sales are used to support the VFW National Home for Widows and Orphans, Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Red Hook Post is the largest VFW Post in Dutchess County, with more than 300 members and the first to receive a Permanent Life Membership Charter.

Many Volunteer Hours At Kingston Hospital

MRS. RAYMOND WOLF VOLUNTEERS

KINGSTON — Women, men and teenagers of the area gave more than 19,000 hours of volunteer service to The Kingston Hospital last year bringing a special warmth into all phases of the hospital's life.

The volunteers work in the Cardiac Clinic, Obstetrics, Pediatrics, Medical Records, the Intensive Care Unit and Diversional Therapy. They staff the Information Desk and the Hospitality Cart and maintain the Gift Shop and Snack Bar.

The active roster of volunteers lists 167 adults and 50 Candy-Stripers. Candy-Stripers are high school girls, 14 years of age and older who participate in the volunteer service program. While serving others, they have the opportunity to learn something of the careers that are available in the field of health care. They and the other volunteers are an important part of the hospital team.

Among the active volunteers is a woman who drives 48 miles weekly to give of herself in the hospital, a man who was recently recognized for 100 hours of volunteer service, a husband and wife team and a mother-daughter team.

Mrs. Frank Falknor, the long distance driver, resides at Piney Point in Boiceville and staffs the Information Desk each Tuesday. She has renectly been recognized for 1,000 hours of service, but volunteer service has been a part of her life for many years. Before coming to this area, Mrs. Falknor worked with Traveler's Aid in New York City, Chicago and St. Louis.

Besides being active in the volunteer program at The Kingston Hospital, William Schiff, an insurance broker, is active in the Hurley Lions Club and the Volunteer Fire Department. He collects antique Hupmobiles. Schiff recently was the first man to receive a National Hospital Volunteer pin for 100 hours of service at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ickes enjoy their volunteer activities together and jointly serve on the Hospitality Cart. Roy, an IBM programmer is also vice president of the Ulster County Council of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, while his wife, Rosa Lee, is publicity director for the council. They live at 254 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Mrs. Raymond Wolf works in the Snack Bar while her daughter, Janet, is on duty as a Candy-Striper. Residents of Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows, both mother and daughter have a variety of other interests. Janet attends J. Watson Bailey Junior High, takes judo lessons and actively participates in the 4-H Hurley Horse Club. Her mother enjoys painting, sewing and playing bridge.

The volunteer program at The Kingston Hospital began in the late 1940's. It was originally organized as a part of the hospital auxiliary. Today the expanded program is a recognized department of the hospital co-ordinated by Mrs. Karl Pitcock, director of volunteers.

Tours of Stockade Area To Begin on Thursday

KINGSTON — The 1970 season of guided walking tours in the former stockade area of uptown Kingston will step off Thursday.

During the following months tours will be offered June 18, July 16, Aug. 20 and Sept. 17. Guides will meet those taking the walk through Kingston's historic streets at 2 p.m. in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel. There is no charge for the tours and no advance registration is necessary.

Not part of the tour but a special feature during tour week is a display of photographs of some of Kingston's early businesses in the lobby of the Ulster County Savings Bank. Sponsored by the Friends of Historic Kingston, the exhibit may be viewed during regular banking hours.

The collection is owned by Harry Siemsen, one of the dedicated town historians in Ulster County, and was given to him by Mrs. Lizzie Hoover, a former employe of the City Hotel.

Through the cooperation of Artcraft Camera Center, copies of any one of the photographs may be obtained.

The area of the walking tour in the heart of the uptown business district comprises an outstanding collectior of the architecture of three centuries. Interiors which will be open for the tours include the Old Dutch Church, The DAR Chapter House and the Senate House. The tours end at the Senate House, which was at the northeast corner of Peter Stuyvesant's stockade. This area was recently added to the National Registor of Historic Sites and is the object of much interest by the New York State Historic Trust.

The tours are a cooperative effort of several interested groups. Guides are furnished by Friends of Historic Kingston, Daughters of American Revolution and the Old Dutch Church membership supply hostesses and the staff at the Senate House and Museum offer special welcome to tour groups.

Mrs. Allan L. Hanstein, 1 Albany Avenue, may be contacted for further information on the tours.

Friends of Historic Kingston is a non-profit organization working to preserve and to keep useful Kingston's architectural heritage. Membership is open to any interested person. Applications may be obtained from Mrs. Avery Leete Smith, membership chairman, at 48 Maiden Lane, Kingston.

Stock Market Suffers One of Biggest Setbacks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market suffered one of its biggest setbacks of the year Tuesday sending the Dow Jones industrial average back below the 700 level.

The average of 30 blue-chips stocks tumbled 11.41 points to 691.40. It was the average's low for the session and the sharpest loss since May 4 when the indicator lost 19.07 points.

The market's skid spelled the end of a recovery in which the Dow average had gained a total of approximately 18 points in the two previous sessions. The rally had rescued the average from its seven year low of 684.79 reached Thursday.

Analysts blamed the market's decline in part on news that the administration is projecting budget deficits for both fiscal 1970 and 1971. The government had previously forecast a surplus.

They also said they believed investor pessism had deepened as a result of news reports that the business slowdown had been more pronounced than anticipated.

Georgia NAACP Official Found Shot to Death

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—Veteran NAACP official James M. Floyd was found shot to death on a sidewalk outside the local NAACP headquarters Tuesday night by a passing patrolman.

Police said Floyd, 57, was shot in the chest with a small caliber weapon and was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital.

No motive was established immediately, but Detective Sgt. Coy James said, "We have some good leads."

Floyd had $612.34 on him when he was found, according to desk Sgt. William E. Baker, apparently ruling out robbery "unless the bandit was scared away before he could rob the victim."

There was no indication the slaying was racially motivated and Baker said there were "no repercussions" from the black sections of this port city of 143,000.

"All is just as quiet as it can be," he said this morning.

He said detectives "are still out working on the case" and no further details probably would be available until later in the morning.

The sergeant said Floyd, a member of the executive board of the local NAACP and a lifetime member of the organization, was found by patrolman W. M. Malone about 8:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Floyd, whose employment was listed as "custodian," lay face down on the sidewalk of West Broad Street, an artery through the black section of Savannah.

At the top of the stairs leading to the NAACP offices, Baker said, the patrolman found a notebook containing nine ballpoint pens.

The city has experienced no racial controversy recently.

Final Class

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — St. Peter's Hospital school of nursing founded in 1900 has graduated its final class.

At commencement exercises Sunday, 62 women received diplomas bringing to 1,789 the number of nurses graduated from the school. The hospital will continue to participate in an in-service program for girls graduating from two-year junior college nursing courses.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened lower today, with declines ahead of advances by a wide margin. Turnover was moderate.

Mounting pessimism over economic conditions at home, Indochina, and the Middle East continued to act as major depressants for stocks Tuesday following the collapse of a technical rally which got underway late last week. And while the market remains deeply oversold, analysts in general expected little relief from the selling pressure until either all the negative news is exhausted or until some positive news appears. Other analysts, however, pointed out that the list is still ripe for a technical comeback and given any kind of constructive news, could mount a sustained offensive.

International Nickel opened ¼ lower at 37¼, while Communications Satellite also surrendered ¼ to 29. Computer Sciences was unchanged at 10½.

In the oils, Occidental Petroleum was unchanged at 16¾, while Texaco gave up ⅛ to 25⅛. Natomas was steady at 19. Pennzoil, however, picked up ⅛ to 22¼.

Among the chemicals, Monsanto dipped ¼ to 30½.

WOULD YOU PAY 6¢ TO GET RID OF THE DIRTIEST JOB IN THE HOUSE?

+ 6¢ =

WHY NOT? You're already paying twenty times that much to do it yourself!

To clean your oven the old-fashioned way you need oven cleaner (about $1.50), rubber gloves, rags, steel wool, papers, energy and patience. It's messy, smells bad, the cleaner can be dangerous, and it's the worst kind of drudgery. Now about that 6¢. That's what the energy will cost you to clean your self-cleaning oven. You close the door, throw a switch and go away. About 6¢ later your oven is penny-bright! (And the trays, too!) See your local dealer about a self-cleaning oven for your kitchen.

GEN. HENRI NAVARRO

French General: U.S. Risks Losing

VENCE, France (UPI)—Gen. Henri Navarre has seen it all before—the Communists' stalling at the peace table, their diversionary actions in Cambodia and Laos, their demands for withdrawal from Indochina of the "imperialist aggressors."

Gen. Navarre, now 71 but still ramrod straight, commanded the French armed forces during their illfated war against the Communist Viet Minh which ended in disaster at Dien Bien Phu just 16 years ago this May 8.

He still is not reconciled to that defeat.

"The Americans could have saved Dien Bien Phu," Navarre said in an interview. "If the American Air Force had intervened at Dien Bien Phu, this would not have allowed the French to win the war but it would have won them an honorable way out. And the Americans, I believe, would have saved themselves 15 years of war in Vietnam.

"Thanks to their overwhelming materiel superiority, the Americans will not suffer a Dien Bien Phu," the military leader said, contemplating President Nixon's effort to extricate the United States from the war. "The Americans will get an honorable exit. But the fact remains that they risk losing the war."

Navarre has no advice to offer Washington. He shrugged his broad shoulders when asked what he would do if he were back there in embattled Vietnam in the shoes of his American successors.

"There are distinct parallels between the two situations," he said, sitting comfortably in the living room of his villa, "La Bastide Malvan," high in the sparkling air of this Riviera resort.

"First, American parliamentary and public opinion is getting tired of the war. The Vietnamese Communists know it, just as they knew France was getting weary of the war when I was in command."

The silverhaired French general said the Viet Minh—as he keeps calling the Communist enemy in Indochina, making no distinction between Hanoi and the Viet Cong—are trying out the tactics tested successfully against the French years back.

They are playing for time at the Paris peace talks while trying to speed up the American disengagement by stirring trouble in Laos and Cambodia, Navarre said.

"In 1952, six years after the start of the war, the Viet Minh were confining their military operations to Vietnam," he recalled. "Then, on Feb. 18, 1954, when France agreed to go to Geneva to negotiate peace, they expanded the war to Laos and Cambodia.

"To speed up the process of prospective French departure they decided to make a decisive, final effort at Dien Bien Phu to win new cards for Geneva."

At Dien Bien Phu the exhausted remnants of 11 elite French battalions, altogether 16,000 men, were overrun after an epic 56-day siege.

Navarre is distinctly skeptical about the chances of Nixon's Vietnamization program.

"Vietnamization is an old idea," he said. "It was the basis of my own plan when I was sent to Indochina in 1952. In my days the South Vietnamese did not fight well. Now, the situation seems to have changed. The South Vietnamese regime seems to have a more solid base.

"The key question is whether they will be able to hold on once the Americans pull out. The question would be different if the Americans merely withdrew to bases. But announcing in advance evacuation withdrawals ..." Navarre shook his head.

Navarre believes North Vietnamese Defense Minister and chief commander Vo Nguyen Giap and his Hanoi colleagues have the same aim today they had in the 1950s—to dominate all of Vietnam and the neighboring countries—and that they are using the same effective political and military strategy.

"In Paris, they let negotiations drag on in the hope of wearing the Americans down," Navarre opinioned. "Mind you, each resultless session makes the Americans a little more impatient, losing a little more heart. So far all the concessions have come from the American side—halt of the U.S. bombing raids over North Vietnam in 1968, followed by the announcement of the U.S. pullout."

Navarre has strong doubts about the chances of insuring peace in Vietnam through a new Geneva conference. "The North Vietnamese will always seek to dominate the South," he said.

Hanoi Purge Probable

A resolution adopted by the ruling Politburo in North Vietnam makes it probable that there will be a widespread purge of Communists, high and low, in that country.

The furor over Cambodia has diverted attention from Hanoi's internal problems, but it seems likely that the forthcoming purge is connected with a power struggle in progress ever since Ho Chi Minh died last September.

The prospects for this struggle are obscured by recent events which brought Red China back into the Indochina picture. It would seem that the outcome would affect Hanoi's prosecution of the wars in Laos, Cambodia and Vientam, but the effect would be a matter of degree and of little comfort to Americans trying to extricate themselves.

In any case a major North Vietnamese reshuffle seems to be in the works. An April 25 resolution of the Lao Dong—Workers—party politburo called bluntly for the expulsion of large number of members found wanting, and their replacement by a new "Ho Chi Minh class" of members. This is reminiscent of Communist reshuffles in other countries, following a Soviet pattern laid down by Joseph Stalin after Lenin died. The "Lenin enrollment" served to bolster Stalin's personal power as general secretary.

The party secretary in North Vietnam is Le Duan, and his name alone is affixed to the resolution in the name of the whole Politburo. This suggests that he is in a commanding position. He is regarded as pro-Moscow, and at the same time a proponent of bold military measures in the South as opposed to long, patient and protracted "people's war" in the Chinese style of Mao Tse-tung.

The resolution, a toughly worded document, suggests that Hanoi has been having continuing troubles because of the war's demands. Some U.S. specialists profess to see signs that the troubles are mounting because of new strains of supporting invasions in Laos and Cambodia.

The international aspect is indicated by a demand that party members follow a line of "contributing to the restoration and strengthening of the unity of the Socialist bloc and the international Communist movement." This suggests that the struggle is far from resolved at the top level. For years there have been signs of a Hanoi tug of war between elements embracing the Soviet line and those preferring Mao's more Asian "Marxism."

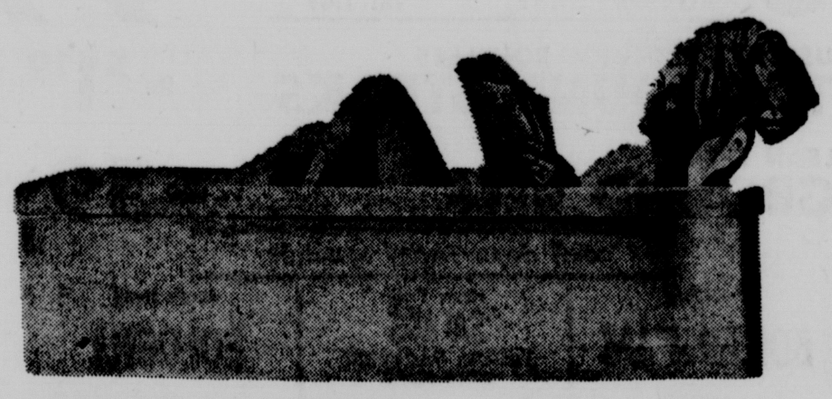

While the Moscow-leaning Le Duan, as sole signer of the document, would seem now to have the upper hand, recent events have complicated the situation. Only a few days after the resolution was published, events in Cambodia spurred leaders of North Vietnam, the Viet Cong, the Laos leftists and Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk to a summit meeting for which Red China provided the territory, facilities and cheering section.

Peking seemed to go one up on Moscow in the contest for Hanoi's allegiance. Then Soviet Premier Alexei Koygin let go with a strong denunciation of the Americans for the Cambodian drive and the new bombing of North Vietnam. He coupled this with a promise of new military hardware for North Vietnam.

All this could have an effect of restraining the developing power struggle in Hanoi, but the Politburo resolution indicates, the struggle must inevitably come to a head.

It's living.

We're in banking, not plumbing.

Yet even we know that in this age of affluence there are still people who can find reasons not to make their homes more comfortable.

"After all," they say, "we're not going to live there forever."

Or: "Someday the kids will go to college and then what will we do with it?"

Down deep, of course, we think they're really concerned about money. Well, we have some suggestions that beat standing in line.

When it comes to home improvement we're in a position to know all kinds of ways to help you work out the costs and take that plunge.

The State of New York National Bank loan officers aren't just moneylenders. They're experienced bankers. They may not glad-hand you but when they discuss an improvement loan they can also show you ways to trim expenses.

They know how home improvement loans mean deductions in taxes. And some of them have become so knowledgeable about construction, they might even give you some pointers on plumbing. If you want them to.

Corps From Nutmeg State In Pow Wow Preview May 30

KINGSTON — Appearing in Kingston for the first time, at the 2nd annual Pow Wow Preview Contest, will be the Enfield Sabers Drum and Bugle Corps of Thompsonville, Conn. The "Preview," sponsored by the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, will be held at Dietz Stadium Memorial Day night, May 30, at 7 o'clock.

The Sabers were first organized as a drill team in 1954, and became a drum corps in 1956, and entered the field of competition in 1957. Through the years they have won many awards including runner-up in the Yankee Circuit Championships, Class A-2, in 1966 and 1967. The Corps joined the Greater New York Circuit in 1968. This year marks the Corps' 13th competing season.

The organization has developed many talented musicians, two of whom play in the Connecticut All-State Band and one who performs with the Connecticut All-State Chamber Orchestra.

Uniform of the Sabers consists of navy blue trousers and skirts with medium blue shirts enhanced by a navy blue and white cross-strap. The shakos are blue sparkle accented with white trim.

Hy Drietzer has arranged the entire musical repertoire which includes: If My Friends Could See Me Now; God of Our Fathers; Tropical Merengue; a medley of Stairway to the Stars and One Step Above in concert; Shall We Dance; On Broadway and They Say It's Wonderful.

Corps instructors are Drietzer on horns, Joe Novak on drums, and Al Koch on drill, while the staff includes Larry Girard Sr., business manager and director; Carol Girard, secretary, and Helen Batchelor, treasurer.

Other Corps scheduled to take part include the Vagabonds of Poughkeepsie, the Medina Temple of New York City as well as the Kingston Indians and the Troop 12 Indians units.

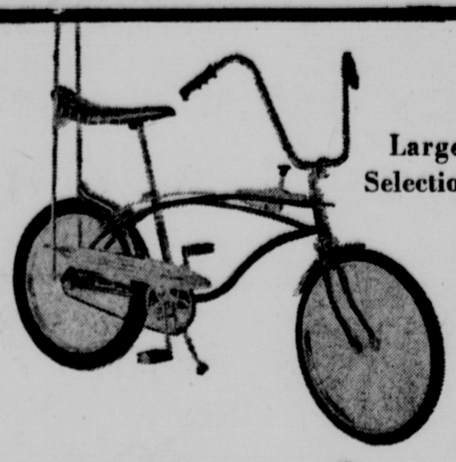

First Girl

Jo Ann Strubel, first girl to sign up with the Kingston Indians, is shown modeling new uniform that female members of the Indians Color Guard will wear. The Indians will appear on May 24 in the Memorial Sunday service at Old Dutch Church and will host the 2nd annual Pow Wow preview contest on Memorial Day night at Dietz Stadium. Top corps from Connecticut, New York City and Poughkeepsie will participate in the event.

Glee in County—Anti-Rock Bill Becomes Law

ALBANY

Townships in Ulster County — especially Saugerties and Woodstock — received a king-sized assist Tuesday with the signing of bill that controls sound festivals in the state.

Gov. Rockefeller made the bill law yesterday which makes it mandatory for sponsors of so-called rock festivals to obtain temporary resident permits from local or state health department authorities.

The new law was a direct result of hearings held in March by the Assembly Ad Hoc Committee on Woodstock Music and Art Festival legislation.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell of Woodstock; Clarence D. Lane of Windham; Benjamin A. Gilman of Middletown; Alvin M. Suchin of Dobbs Ferry and Edwyn E. Mason of Stamford were members of the Assembly committee. Assemblyman Bell sponsored the legislation.

The law, effective immediately, puts the burden of proof upon the sponsors to show that they are able to provide acceptable water and sewerage facilities, adequate drainage, shelter, food service, medical facilities, fire protection and other necessities for the security of life or health.

The permits are rquired for mass gatherings likely to reach 5,000 or more persons and those that continue for more than 24 hours.

Under the law the State Health Department would also require the sponsor to provide a performance bond of $50,000 plus $5,000 for each 5,000 persons attending.

The Ad Hoc hearings and ultimate passage of the bill were generated by reports of the Woodstock Music and Art Festival held in August last year at White Lake, Sullivan County which sparked several investigations.

The State Health Department in October reported that health and safety facilities at White Lake were only adequate for 50,000 persons and not for the hundreds of thousands that attended.

The influx of an estimated 250,000 to 500,000 persons into a rural area already crowded with vacationers created traffic safety, food and water, sewage and waste disposal problems which overburdened all of the festival facilities.

Health Commissioner Hollis Ingraham reported that 5,162 persons were given medical aid at the festival site, most of them for minor injuries or illnesses. Physicians listed 797 treatments for drug abuse, only 72 of which required medical attention, he said.

Two persons died of narcotics abuse and another was killed when a tractor ran over him as he slept in the fields.

There were no reported births during the festival, but the commissioner reported eight incomplete or complete abortions and 12 threatened abortions.

The Town of Saugerties is currently drafting stringent amendments to its assembly Local Law and a public hearing is expected at an early date. Saugerties residents in the High Woods - Fish Creek area have heard of plans for weekend mini-festivals at the Pan Copeland farm near Shultis Corners. Several protest meetings were held and at the town meeting last Thursday the aroused citizenry demanded that the Town Board act immediately to head off the planned festivals.

The Town Board at a special meeting Tuesday night directed Town Police Chief Charles Riley and Sgt. John Pavlak to go to North Lake in the Adirondacks to ask Town Attorney Louis P. Francello to return from vacation in order to draft the amendments to the town's assembly law in preparation for a public hearing at the earliest possible date.

Onteora District...A 'Yes' to Civil Service

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK

With little discussion and only one dissenting vote, the Onteora Board of Education has agreed to allow the Ulster County Office of Civil Defense to use the school district's high school building as a fixed monitoring station.

Approval was given Monday night at a board meeting in Woodstock School on a motion by trustee W. Jack Kahn. Seconded by Margaret Atherton, it was approved by all mmbers voting except for the lone "no" cast by Peter W. Rakov.

The Civil Defense request was for use of the Boiceville building to monitor fallout, with several people to be trained to operate instruments. Shelter supplies will also be stocked at the school, and the board has been assured that any exercise taking place will not interrupt normal class operation. Essentially, the monitoring will be done by telephone.

The only note of alarm sounded about the operation came from Superintendent of Schools Dr. Harold Synder, who informed the board that the building is presently listed as a "shelter" for between 200 and 300 people. He voiced concern that the shelter supplies include barbiturates; said they will have to be placed under "lock and key" so no one "can get to them."

Outside of a remark by Onteora Teachers Asssociation president Richard Nixdorf that "our school equipment is more sophisticated than that already used by Civil Defense," the approval of the request met with far less controversy than it had when it was first made at last month's board meeting

This week, trustee Kahn said he felt "the schools are there to be used by the community." He noted that if Civil Defense feels they can actively use the school for their purposes, he favored their request so long as it does not have "any detrimental effect on the Onteora system."

At the April meeting, however, Kahn had tended to agree with Rakov, who had voiced his objection to "the whole thing in principle" as a "boon-doggle for retired civil servants."

Other board members who had seemed to have reservations when the request was first presented last month, had apparently overcome them for reasons similar to Kahn's. Once assured Civil Defense use of the building would not interfere with the running of the school and would cost the district nothing, they acquiesced without comment.

Out of this week's meeting too, came the announcement that the senior class trip has been cancelled since commitment of the number of students' participation could not be met. It was reported that only 26 seniors had signed up for the trip, planned as a weekend at Brown's Hotel in the Catskills. The number did not fall in the range of 30 to 50 per cent of the class total required from a 1970 graduating group of some 150.

Since this was not considered "adequate participation" in spite of the "liberal guidelines" followed by the board, there will be no class trip this year.

Announcement has also been made that Mrs. Frank Johnson of Kingston has been responsible for the establishment of a major scholarship at Onteora. Mrs. Johnson, a sister of Reginald R. Bennett, former OCS administrative officer for whom one of the schools in the district is named, has established a scholarship in his name. To be known as the Reginald R. Bennett Scholarship Award, it will begin with the 1970-71 school year.

A check in the amount of $2,000 has already been received from Mrs. Johnson through her lawyer; has been deposited in an interest bearing account. The interest is to be used for the scholarship, to be given annually to a graduating student who elects to go on to college, preferably or generally in the medical field as a doctor, nurse, laboratory technician, or into a hospital training course of some type.

Nirenberg Case: Split Decision

KINGSTON

A split decision on whether to reject the petitions of Democrat-Liberal Alex J. Nirenberg who seeks the office of Ulster County District Attorney has been announced by the Board of Elections.

Commissioners Seymour Werbalowsky and Joseph I. Epstein held a hearing Friday on objection to Nirenberg's petitions filed by Clarence Anderson, secretary to the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Anderson asked that the petitions be rejected on the basis that they call for Nirenberg's being a candidate for county attorney rather than district attorney. Anderson pointed out that no such elective office of county attorney exists in the county or the state.

Democratic Commissioner Epstein voted to accept the petitions and Republican Commissioner Werbalowsky voted to reject them.

The impasse will have to be resolved somehow between now and the printing of the November ballots, either through the courts or by mutual agreement.

During the hearing John Egan, counsel for Anderson contended that the election commissioners do not have the power or authority to change the nominating petitions to read that Nirenberg was nominated for the office of district attorney, instead of county attorney as filed.

Francis Martocci, counsel for the Liberal Party whose petitions have the county attorney designation, said that since no deception was intended the commissioner's have the power to change or corect an error of this kind without referral to the courts.

Aaron E. Klein, counsel for Nirenberg agreed with Martocci's position, as did Nirenberg.

A vote was then taken on the objections to the petition.

Werbalowsky said he felt that as election commissioners, it would not be a ministerial act to alter or amend nominating petitions and he therefore voted to sustain the objection.

Epstein voted to reject the objections.

A vote was then taken on the portion of the Liberal Party petition and the two commissioners split again with Werbalowsky voting to reject and Epstein voting to accept, saying, that the office was intended to be district attorney and he thought the petition should be amended to read district rather than county attorney.

WAWARSING HELPS DIMES—Legislator George M. Barthel (C), co-chairman of Town of Wawarsing March of Dimes committee, holds $7,500 check, proceeds from annual Dimes' drive in that township. Edgar M. Maurer, county campaign coordinator (L) and Meyer Kaplan, chapter chairman, look on. Maurer hailed the tremendous boost to the county coffers through the big amount by saying "it is our good fortune to have men of Lou Resnick's and George Barthel's capabilities to serve in the capacities as co-chairmen. He also noted that the Wawarsing committee has raised a large percentage of the great amount of monies that have been spent by Ulster County Chapter during the past 30 years in direct local patient aid. Woodstock Purification Plea—'Landmark' to Petitioners

WOODSTOCK

"To Purify Our Streams" read the petition, signed by 530 Woodstock residents, and submitted to the Town Board here at its May meeting Tuesday night.

The petition, which had been circulated by L.I.F.E. (Living in A Fulfilled Environment), urged the Town Board to amend the present Zoning Ordinance so that the provisions of the law would "apply to all premises in the town, without exception," insofar as streams and streambeds are concerned.

The ordinance, in effect since late 1965, regulates septic tanks and drainage fields, but includes an escape clause for those in existence prior to its pasage. What the 530 petitioners desire is an amendment that would make old properties as well as new conform to the same standards. L.I.F.E. proposes a 12-month moratorium after the amendment to give those in violation time to adapt to the ordinance.

Ecological Awareness

The purpose of any such amendment would be to purify Woodstock's streams, particularly Tannery Brook. Citing a growing ecological awareness in the community, the petitioners suggest such an amendment would benefit all Woodstock residents, the balance of wildlife in the area, and future generations to come. They urged timely action by the board.

In accepting the petition, Supervisor Milton Houst quoted from a letter written by Harry Edinger of the Ulster County Health Department after a recent tour the two had made of Woodstock streams. Edinger agreed that Woodstock has sewerage problems, and that sewerage effluents are "obviously" reaching the brook.

He noted further that this is not a new situation; suggested a central sewerage system is "necessary," explaining such a system involved the problems of priorities and money.

He said the town had taken a step in the right direction when it instituted a water system; suggested the system had done much to keep Woodstock "alive and liveable" over the recent past.

Put Engineer to Work

But it must now be realized, he said, that surface drainage lines have been destroyed in some places and that a saturation point has been reached in some areas. For these reasons, wrote Edinger, the town should commission its engineer to begin work on designs to arrive at the costs involved for a sewerage system.

Houst told a cross section of the petitioners attending the meeting that the board "favors amending the zoning ordinance." Then, on a motion by town justice James Meyers, the board voted to turn the petition and Edinger's letter over to the Woodstock Planning Board, directing its members to make a recommendation back to the Town Board prior to the June meeting. With the Planning Board's recommendation in hand, the Town Board will then make its own recommendation.

For some of the petitioners, this action gained their approval as a "landmark."

In other business at the meeting, the board accepted a bid on a new voting machine from the lone bidder, Automatic Voting Machine Company, Jamestown. The machine, considered a necessity for upcoming elections, will be purchased for $1,887.

A minor rash of peddlers and hawkers permit applications also was handled by the board. Street vendors, with an eye on the summer population increase, had asked for the privilege of manning portable frankfurter stands, fresh fruit and juice carts, and to peddle newspapers on the street.

But the board, on a motion by Supervisor Houst, seconded by Town Justice Meyers, denied by a unanimous vote the issuance of such licenses. For Leonard Busciglio, it meant no frankfurt stand; for Ronald Merians, no food cart; and for Allen Gordon, no newsboys to distribute his newspaper, The Woodstock Aquarian.

Milk Plants Drop

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dairy cooperative leaders in Central New York warn the steadily decreasing number of operational milk plants may soon result in a shortage of milk handling facilities.

Durng the years 1960 to 1969 the number of operational milk plants decreased by about two-thirds and in recent months the number of closings has accelerated, led by the closing of most of the Borden Company's operations in the state, they say.

Ask Designation

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A group has asked a Senate public works subcommittee to designate U.S. 219—"the North Star Way" which connects northern industrial points with Appalachian communities—as part of the national interstate highway system.

The route has Buffalo, N.Y., and Bluefield, W.Va., at its ends. Supporters testified Tuesday there was a "decided void" in the national interstate network through Appalachian regions.

Pentagon Seeking Jobs for Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon may ask U.S. businesses to set aside a portion of the jobs in their plants, stores and offices specifically for discharged servicemen.

Defense officials, developing details of a new program "to locate a job for every veteran," say there would be no compulsion. They hope many companies can be persuaded to participate voluntarily.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R Laird disclosed plans for such a program in a Detroit speech May 11, but provided no details.

He predicted more than 2 million men and women will be leaving the armed services in the next two years with perhaps 75 per cent trying for civilian jobs.

The Pentagon hopes to encourage as many returning veterans as possible to take advantage of GI educational benefits.

But for those who do not Laird has said the Defense Department should bear part of the responsibility for helping them find productive jobs.

Defense authorities assigned the task of putting the jobs-for-veterans program together indicate much remains to be done.

For the most part, it appears to be an effort built around stimulating business groups and communities to come forward with job opportunities.

Among other organizations, the Pentagon is working with the National Alliance of Businessmen, a number of chambers of commerce and a special intergovernmental committee.

No cost estimate has been made yet, but officials said the Pentagon's Project Transition, now costing $14.5 million a year, may be expanded and meshed into the new program.

Under Project Transition, servicemen in a combat unit who have not had an opportunity to develop a marketable skill while in uniform are given a chance to undergo job training during the last six months of their tours.

Corporations have provided specialists to train such men on military bases, with the companies footing most of the bill.

Subway Trains Crash; 2 Dead, 35 Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — Two persons were killed and about 35 injured this morning when a citybound Independent line train crashed into another train at the Roosevelt Avenue station in Jackson heights, Queens, police reported.

Passengers in a GG local which was bound for the city said the accident occurred when their train was switching from an express track back to the local track as it left the Roosevelt Ave. Station and was struck by another GG local.

Randolph Cohen, 15-year-old high school student who said he was riding in the fourth car of the local, said that, as the train was being switched "there was a smash, the roof collapsed, people were falling all over and there was lots of screaming."

Cohen was among 25 persons waiting to receive medical treatment. The more seriously injured had been removed first.

Most of the more seriously injured were taken to Elmhurst General Hospital and St. John's Hospital in Queens.

Subway service, in all directions on the line was halted from 179th Street in Jamaica to Northern Boulevard Station in Woodside.

Janet Robinson Weds Saug. Man

Miss Janet Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Robinson, 146 West Bridge Street, Catskill, became the bride of Ronald David Robinson, son of Glenwood Robinson, 144 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, on Sunday, May 3, at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Catskill

The Rev. Father Gausby, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. White pompons decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a high collared gown of organza, trimmed with Venise lace. The sleeves were long and full, and the detachable train was chapel length. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece of seed pearls and aurora crystals.

Miss Diane Valk, Saugerties, served as maid of honor. She wore a gown styled with a high neckline and long full sleeves of embroidered organza in deep pink. The floor length skirt was of ribbed ottoman. A stylized headpiece held her matching shoulder length tulle veil.

Attendants were Miss Sandra Robinson, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Kathryn Mooney, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Saugerties. Their aquamarine gowns were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant. Bridesmaids wore shoulder length tulle veils which were attached to stylized headpieces in matching colors.

Arthur Russell, Saugerties, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Fondino, Glasco, and Richard Gillespie, Saugerties.

A reception for 65 guests was held at the American Legion Hall, Saugerties.

Mrs. Robinson attended Catskill High School and her husband was graduated from Saugerties High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will make their home at 146 West Bridge Street, Catskill.

It makes no difference what size you are. I know what it's like to settle for any older style fashions. You see, I know because I'm overweight myself. We carry youthful style dresses up to size 52-60, our half sizes start at 14½-32½, also sizes 10-20, 40-44 and 46-52. So you see, we can really fit you no matter what your size, I'm inviting you to come in and see the beautiful styles we have in Spring Coats up to size 52. Lingerie to size 60 in Sportswear, girdles, bras, slips, panties . . . also outsize panty hose up to size 4x. And to "top off" your outfit a beautiful handmade hat styled just for you.

So please, don't settle for second best, just because you are a little overweight. OK! Looking to see you soon, bye now.

Doina The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

PARTY PLAN

Dear Mrs. Post: : My daughter and a number of her girl friends received invitations from one of the girls in their group to attend a birthday party in honor of this girl's mother. They were told how much to contribute for a gift, These are all high school girls who do not have jobs. They don't even know her mother. Why couldn't this girl ask some of her mother's working associates or relatives to help her pay for this gift? — Helen

Dear Helen: :The girl had no right to ask her friends to contribute to a gift for her mother, nor is it natural or proper to invite only your own friends to a party for anyone. She should, as you said, have asked her mother's own friends who would be able and willing to contribute.

DEATH NOTICE

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently my brother died and the death notice read "Brother of Edward and Henry and Mary Smith." At the wake, people I didn't know called me Mary which was embarrassing to me as I am seventy years of age and accustomed to being addressed as Mrs. Smith. Was this familiarity caused by the omission of Mrs. Before my name? Was I right to ignore their rudeness under the circumstances? — Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Many death notices are written as was your brother's, but it is up to the individual who informs the newspapers to choose the wording. In order to avoid confusion I feel it is preferable to list married sisters and daughters by their full names and titles — Mrs. John Smith if she is presently married or a widow, Mrs. Mary Smith if she is a divorcee.

Dr. Mildred Dawson Honored Recently On West Coast; Mary Polhemus Attends

Dr. Mildred Dawson, supervisor of elementary grades in Kingston, N.Y. from 1948-49 was honored with a testimonial dinner on the west coast and one Kingston educator was in attendance — Mary Polhemus of Port Ewen.

Dr. Dawson was the person responsible for persuading the Kingston Board of Education to hire their first women school principals. They were Miss Polhemus and Frieda Dingee. Miss Polhemus is now retired and vacationing on the west coast while Mrs. Dingee is serving as director of the Multi-Media Reading Center. Both are credited with having had very successful careers as principals in Kingston.

In the intervening years, Dr. Dawson has achieved an outstanding reputation as a teacher, editor, author, lecturer, and humanitarian. She is known from coast to coast, across the seas and has served the cause of education in many capacities. She was president of the National Conference on Research in English, chairman of the elementary section of the National Council of Teachers of English, president of the International Reading Association, and a member of numerous honorary societies including Pi Lambda Theta, Delta Kappa Gamma and Kappa Delta Pi.

In her responding speech at the testimonial dinner, Dr. Dawson said: "Perhaps my greatest accomplishment was to get the Board of Education in Kingston to hire the first women principals in their school system..."

Dr. Dawson is now retired and lives in Kelseyville, Calif.

Meeting Tonight

Kingston High School Class of 1945 reunion committee will hold a meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Alpine Restaurant, Kingston.

Chairman Ernest Hopper urges all committee members and anyone interested in the reunion to attend.

The 25th year reunion celebration will be held Saturday, June 27 at the Alpine Restaurant. A cocktail party and dinner dance has been scheduled with music to be provided by Lou Schaefer's Orchestra.

Reservation cards are being mailed this week. Deadline for reservations is June 15.

Baby Shampoo Is Best

The make-up for the '70s is still natural. Where the theme is the same, the accents have "hued up" for the new year. Eyes are becoming less painted without eyeliner, but more like nature with lue and green shadow.

Dr. Chris Short Cures Phils

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two hours of surgery was necessary last June to put Chris Short back together again, exactly the same amount of time it took the slick Philadelphia southpaw to operate on Pittsburgh and get the Phillies in working order again.

Both operations were successful—the first, last June 13 was needed to remove a herniated disc from Short's back—and the latest, performed Tuesday night, helped the Phils snap a 10-game losing string.

The strapping 6-foot-4, 215-pounder limited the powerful Pirates to four scattered hits while walking none and striking out 10 in the Phils' 2-0 triumph.

In other NL action, New York socked Montreal 7-4, Cincinnati downed Chicago 3-1, St. Louis trounced Houston 12-2, Los Angeles routed San Diego 8-3 and Atlanta downed San Francisco 4-2.

In the American League, Milwaukee drilled Oakland 6-3, Minnesota nipped Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings, California blanked Chicago 3-0, Baltimore drubbed New York 5-1 and Boston edged Detroit 5-4.

The 33-year-old Short, a 20-game winner in 1966, captured 19 games in 1968 before suffering the painful back injury which sidelined the 10-year veteran for all but 10 innings last season.

A two-time All-Star, Short has won 119 contests in his major league career and is now 3-4 for the season.

"I had a better fastball tonight than I can remember," Short said. "Everything I was throwing went right where I wanted it to go."

Short got all the support he needed in the opening inning when Deron Johnson drove in John Briggs with a single. The Phils added a run in the second as Larry Bowa reached first on a forceout, stole second, moved to third on a wild pitch by loser Dock Ellis, 2-4, and stole home.

The Mets cracked five home runs, a pair by Tommie Agee and one apiece from Ron Swoboda, Cleon Jones and Don Clendennon in slamming the Expos and gaining a virtual first-place tie with the Cubs in the NL East. Chicago is ahead of New York by one percentage point.

Montreal added a pair of homers to the slugfest, a two-run shot by Adolfo Phillips and a solo blast by John Bocabella.

Bernie Carbos seventh inning two-run triple followed by Tommy Helms' single gave the Reds all the runs they needed against the Cubs. Gary Nolan, 6-2, scattered five hits but needed relief help in the eighth.

Richie Allen slammed his 13th homer of the season—a three-run belt—which capped a six-run outburst in the fourth inning as the Cards routed Houston behind the five-hit hurling of rookie right-hander Santiago Guzman.

Bill Sudakis cracked a three-run homer and Wes Parker drove in two runs with a double, backing the eight-hit pitching of Don Sutton, 6-4, in the Dodgers easy victory over the Padres. Ivan Murrell and Nate Colbert drilled homers for San Diego.

Milt Pappas, making his first appearance since being sidelined April 21 with a fractured finger, limited the Giants to five hits and was backed by an eight-hit Braves attack on loser Juan Marichal, 1-2.

Atlanta exploded for four consecutive hits off the Giants' right-hander in the fourth inning keyed by Mike Lum's two-run double and an RBI single by Clete Boyer. Rico Carty cracked his ninth homer of the season for the Braves in the ninth.

In the American League, the Orioles boosted their lead back to six games in the Eastern Division over the Yankees, as Jim Palmer pitched a 4-hitter. New York was hoping to vault into the race with a sweep of their two-game series but Frank Robinson and Boog Powell each drove in a pair of runs to make it easy for Palmer.

Tony Conigliaro's bases-loaded single in the ninth inning gave Boston the victory over Detroit. The Red Sox tied it 4-4 in the eighth on George Scott's run-scoring single after Norm Cash's two-run homer in the fifth put Detroit ahead. Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer for Boston.

First Skirmish Over

Flood Witnesses May Include Paige

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood's starting line-up in his suit against baseball likely will include several other former players, a source close to the former St. Louis outfielder told The Associated Press today.

While the source said he was unable to divulge the names of any prospective witnesses, the name of Satchel Paige, the great black pitcher who last hurled for the Atlanta Braves did appear on a courtroom listing of people who might either be called or mentioned during the trial.

It is assumed that any former players called in support of Flood would document their dealings in baseball within the framework of the controversial reserve system, which Flood is challenging in the unique case being heard in U.S. District Court here.

Both the plaintiff—Flood—and the defendants—baseball—had a day off today to continue to plot their strategy for the resumption of proceedings Thursday following an opening session in which an obviously tense Flood testified.

The onetime $90,000-a-year outfielder appeared ill-at-ease on the witness stand, was admonished by Judge Irving Ben Cooper for not answering questions properly and needed a baseball bubblegum card to refresh his memory on his own batting averages.

But his attorney, Arthur Goldberg, former U.S. Supreme Court justice and now a New York state gubernatorial candidate, did lead Flood and Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, through testimony vital to the plaintiff's case.

From Flood, Goldberg elicited the response that he decided to bring suit against baseball after being traded by St. Louis to Philadelphia because "I didn't think I should be traded and treated like a piece of property."

From Miller, Goldberg elicited the response that in his admittedly expert opinion the reserve system "is unnecessarily restrictive . . . and can be modified in a manner to serve the players, the owners and the fans."

But Flood, the goodlooking black athlete who currently is making a living off his photographic studios and his work as a portrait artist, was the man in the spotlight as he hunched forward in the green leather witness chair and traced his long baseball career.

During that testimony, he made the points that he was not consulted either of the two times he was traded in the majors and that his refusal to join the Phillies had to do with the principle of being traded without his consent rather than money.

"I didn't want to move my businesses and family to another part of the United States."

Flood explained. He also answered "no" when asked by Goldberg if he would play for another club at a higher salary if he were traded without his consent by the Phillies.

Flood, in his suit, contends that the system operates in restraint of trade and therefore violates federal antitrust laws. His case is unique because it marks the first time the merits of the reserve system are being argued in court.

Rondout Valley Captures UCAL Title

KYSERIKE

The Ganders of Rondout Valley High School came up with one run in the bottom of the eighth inning of yesterday's game with visiting Pine Bush, and that single marker may be the most important one ever scored by the Ganders as they beat the Bushmen, 2-1 and won the 1970 Ulster County Athletic League pennant, ousting defending champion New Paltz.

The Champs are now 9-0 in the UCAL and 13-1 on the season. Rondout plays Friday at Onteora.

"We're going to try and go all the way, undefeated," said Gander Coach Hal Ross. "I don't think that it has ever been done before, but I think that this team has the chance to do it. The boys have played wonderful all year," he went on.

"I'm very proud. The boys have won at least six one-run games this year and each game, soneone different has come up with the big play. Today it was Bruce Burr. (The Gander catcher drove in the winning run). Other days it has been someone else. And, our pitching, with Hyler Van Wagenen, Mike Alecca, Jim DeWitt and the rest, well, I'm just very pleased and very, very happy," concluded Ross.

The baseball title represents the second UCAL crown that the Ganders have won for the 1969-70 school year. Rondout athletes also took the league in basketball.

The Ganders drew first blood in the bottom of the second as Vaughn Stancage walked, stole second, went to third on a bad throw and scored as the catcher dropped Mike Krom's third strike.

Pine Bush tied it up in the top of the sixth as Tom Grossi tripled and rode home on a single by Gary Sisco.

The winners iced it as winning pitcher Jim DeWitt walked, stole second and scored on Burr's long single to left.

Rich Alexander was the losing hurler, striking out 14 and walking four as he went the distance. The Gander hurlers allowed three hits.

In other games. Marlboro downed visiting Wallkill, 6-1 as Tom Couparte tripled with the bases loaded in the fourth. Dan Passante also had two runs batted in for the winners. The Dukes got a game-winning double play in the top of the seventh as winning hurler Charlies Jones fielded a ground ball, whirled and threw to Rich Gerentine at third for a force-out and then Gerentine gunned the ball across the diamond to first, completing the play.

Brown's 53 Points Spark Pacers Win

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Slick Roger Brown poured in 53 points for an American Basketball Association playoff scoring record Tuesday night to lead Indiana to 142-120 victory over the Los Angeles Stars and gave the Pacers a 3-1 advantage in the championship series.

The Pacers can wrap up the best of seven-game finals at Indianapolis on national television Saturday.

Getting 33 points of his record total in the last half, the 6-foot-5 Brown broke the ABA record of 52 points set by Rick Barry of Washington against Denver this year. He hit 15 of 21 two-point field goal attempts and made three three-pointers in eight tries. He was 14 of 16 from the free throw line.

The Pacers broke open a close game late in the third quarter, going from a 85-83 advantage to a 108-94 third quarter lead in 4:50.

Indiana Coach Bob Leonard took out his veteran star with 55 seconds left and the Anaheim Convention Center crowd of 7,027, the Stars' largest turnout this season, gave him a standing ovation.

The Pacers got double figure scoring from their four other starters. Bob Netolicky scored 18, Fred Lewis tallied 17, Bill Keller had 16 and Mel Daniels finished with 14.

For Los Angeles, Andy Anderson collected 20 points while Craig Raymond hit 19.

Sixth for Cole

FREEDOM PLAINS

The name Tom Cole is fast becoming a household word in Saugerties, at least in Sawyer Baseball Coach Pete Kramer's household, anyway. Cole pitched his sixth game of the season yesterday, picked up his sixth win. And it was the most important victory of the year for the Saugerties High School hurler as he beat Arlington, 2-1.

Arlington are the defending champs of the Dutchess County Scholastic League Central Section and are currently in first place with an 8-2 record. Saugerties is 3-7 in the league and 6-9 overall. All six wins belong to Cole.

According to Kramer, Cole is 6-0, having completed all six games, with an earned run average of 1.57 for 44 and two thirds innings of work.

"I wish I could pitch him every day, he's just great and a real hard-worker," said Kramer. "I'm proud of the boys and the win yesterday," the Sawyer mentor went on. "That was a big one. It meant a lot to them and me."

Cal Reuping also hurled a fine game for the Admirals in losing. Reuping struck out 10 and walked five, while allowing just four hits. Cole gave up five safeties.

Saugerties went ahead 1-0 in the top of the third as Gerry Malgieri walked, stole second and scored all the way on a sharp single down the right field line by Rich Lack.

Arlington tied it in the fifth as Reupinng drew a walk, stole second and scored on a hit by Bob Young.

The winners iced it in the top of the sixth as Reuping issued a bases-loaded walk with one out to Dave Smith, forcing in Bill Ohno with the go-ahead marker.

Saugerties' JVs did as well, knocking the Admirals out of mythical first place with a 2-0 win. Craig Wrolsen hurled a three-hitter and drove in two runs with a double. Bob Sinnott had two-for-three for the winners.

Zappone Zips Newburgh, 5-0

NEW PALTZ

Rapid Ray Zappone turned in one of the season's best pitching performances and his teammates exploded for five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to defeat visiting Newburgh, 5-0 Tuesday in a non-league encounter. The winners are 7-7 overall and 4-4 in the Ulster County Athletic League.

The Goldbacks currently trail Kingston by a half-game in the DUSO League.

Zappone put it all together as he limited the hard-hitting visitors to two scratch singles, while striking out 15 and walking just four. Bob Ambury was the losing hurler, striking out nine and walking one.

After Ed Grainger singled, Zappone reached on a fielder's choice. Rich Pesavento k'd but went to first as the catcher dropped the third strike. Zappone moved over and scored on Bill Schiller's single. Harold Anderson then boomed a double and Pesavento and Schiller came home. Jay Ackert walked to put men on first and second. Joe Palonis singled in Anderson and Rode delivered a base knock to score Ackert.

Lourdes Golfers Topple Sawyers

POUGHKEEPSIE

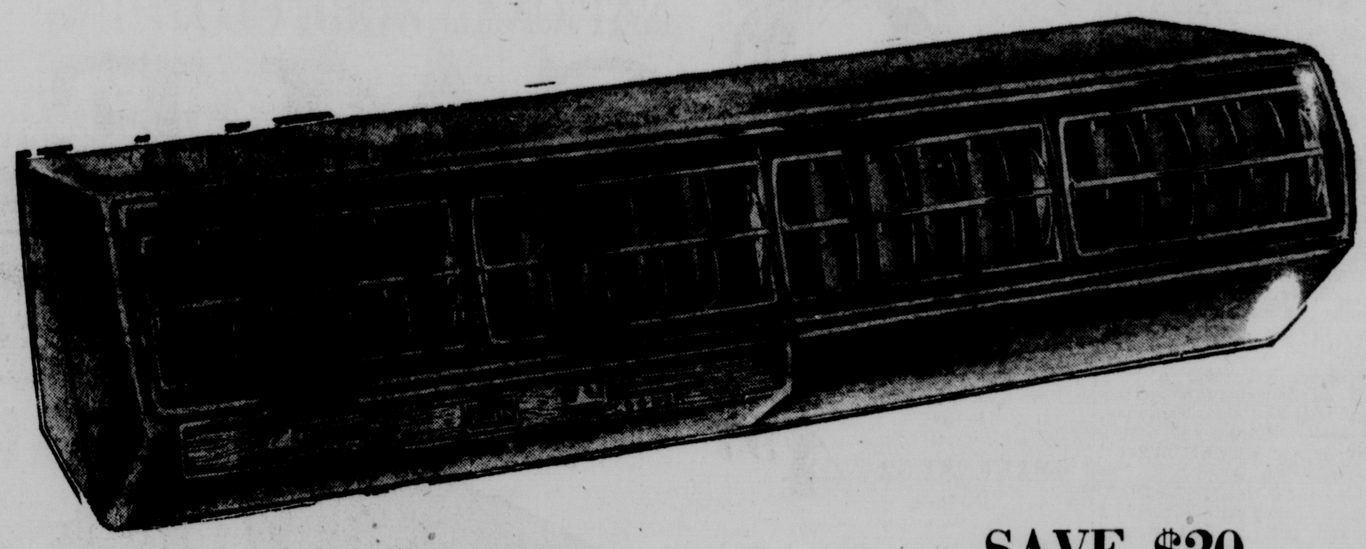

Steve Benham scored a 39 to tie Charlie Garvey of Our Lady of Lourdes High School for the day's low scoring honors, but, it was to no avail as the Warriors topped the visiting Saugerties High School golfers, 165-177 in a Dutchess County Scholastic League match Tuesday at the par 35 College Hill course.

The Sawyers are now 5-4 on the season and play today in a tri-meet at Sawyerkill.

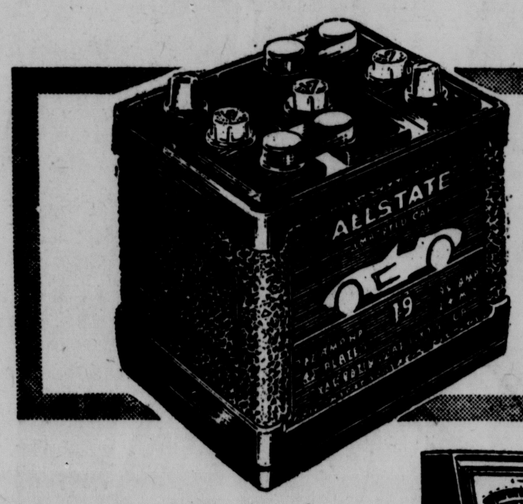

After Benham's 39, Bill Brinnier and Paul Tice each had 45s, while Don Treat carded a 48. Garvey had a 39, Nick Menmer 40, and Mike Lewis and Tom Gyseck each hit 43s for the Warriors.

Janes of Dartmouth

CHARLES J. TIANO

It's not often that a pitcher can manage to win three college varsity baseball games in the space of four days, but it was accomplished last week by a former Kingston High school pitcher.

Charlie Janes of Hurley did it with the Dartmouth College team. A sophomore, Janes got the call to start against the University of Massachusetts last Wednesday after a slow start this season had marked him with a 0-1 record.

Jones proceeded to pitch a masterful game for the Indians, striking out eight and stopping the Massachusetts attack with fiive hits for an 8-4 victory.

THEN CAME THE weekend and key games against Army and Cornell. The Hanover (N.H.) Indians took Friday's game against Army easily, behind the 4-hit pitching of senior Chuck Seelbach.

But Cornell's famed Big Red, high above the waters of Cayuga were a little more difficult to handle. The teams played a doubleheader and Janes found himself in relief roles in both contests.

Charlie came on with the score tied 2-2 and Cornell threatening late in the first game. He stopped the rally and finished the game as the Indians won it 3-2.

In the second game, Janes came on again almost in an identical situation, with the score again 2-2. He retired the side in the last inning and won in extra innings, 3-2.

IN A SPACE of four days, Janes had picked up three wins to bring his record to 3-1. Janes' fine pitching, both as a starter and reliever, has given the Dartmouth Indians renewed life as they drive for their second straight Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League championship.

And Dartmouth coach, Tony Lupien (the old Boston Red Sox first baseman) is sleeping a little easier these days.

PERSONALITY ITEMS: A man with whom much of my early sports life was spent observed a milestone in the past two weeks.

Nathan G. (Nate) Markson, formerly of Kingston, voluntarily terminated a 50-year newspaper career when the Albany Times-Union and Knickerbocker News moved from downtown Albany to their new plant off the Northway.

Markson spent the bulk of his career with the now defunct Kingston Leader, the New York Post and the Times-Union. He was sports editor of the Kingston Leader when the late Judge Harry Schrick's Kingston Colonials were one of the most powerful independent teams in the country.

He is a brother to Harry Markson, director of boxing at Madison Square Garden and an uncle of David Markson, the novelist.

Markson has been an enthusiastic, life long New (Now San Francisco) Giant rooter. It has been a life long love affair. He grudgingly acknowledged the great Yankee dynasties of the past, but always was willing to concede that Joe DiMaggio was the greatest outfielder he ever saw.

JIM BOUTON, an ex-Yankee and one of the great activists in major league baseball, has authored a tome for Look Magazine that is not likely to endear him to his old teammates in general and Mickey Mantle, in particular.

Mantle sometimes reported to the ballpark with a bad hangover, could be rude to kids seeking autographs, snotty to reporters and might have been a healthier, better ballplayer if he had "loosened up with the boys at the bar a little less." That's what Jim is saying.

OTHER BOUTON TIDBITS:

1) Many major league ball players pop pep pills known as "greenies."

2) Umpires, even good ones, get even with troublesome players by making calls against them.

3) Sal Maglie, the pitching wizard, is a fizzle as a pitching coach.

4) Joe Pepitone may be the only first baseman ever to shake off a pickoff sign.

5) One of the most popular avocations among ballplayers is "beaver shooting", a euphemism for peeping tomism in all its varieties.

6) Whitey Ford did have a couple of trick pitches—the mud ball and the ring ball.

7) Life can get pretty lonely for Emmett Ashford, the only black umpire in the majors.

8) Ralph Houck wasn't as loveable to author Bouton as he apparently is to others.

9) Going over the hitters in the other team's lineup may be a waste of time as witness the times when Bouton heard Maglie recommend that his starter "pitch around" the first five hitters in the opposition lineup and Gary Bell, a fast ball pitcher, suggest "smoke him inside" for the entire Washington lineup.

Bouton has authored a highly controversial tome, and the fallout will be settling for a long time.

Raceway Feature To Defender Pick

MONTICELLO — The tension among the loyal fans attending Monticello Raceway is growing greater. When Wednesday rolls around, the calendar will change thanks to the Mighty M's management, and the day of the week will be altered to "Wins-Day." Two of them will cart off, without extra cost, an 18-inch color TV set and a mink stole. On each succeeding "Wins-day", there'll be other, equally valuable prizes for those present after the final race at the Sullivan County oval.

In the meantime, despite a soggy track carrying a "good" speed rating, it was a wire-to-wire victory for Defender Pick in the featured 4th race pace, under the guidance of Irvin Foster. Horse and man completed the mile in 2:09.4, to beat out the competition by a length and three-quarters.

Just as Defender Pick was glued to the lead position, so was Shadydale Jury, Carl Rinaldi the driver, fastened to the second. The show horse, Counsel Dew, Paul Battis in the sulky, was claimed by Dan Ricco of Monticello for $2,500 following completion of the mile.

A spectacular thunder and lightinging storm thoroughly drenched the raceway complex just before the daily double, reducing the speedy surface of this distinguished oval from "fast" to "good."

Despite this handicap, Tim Bell, who last year was giated as a pacer, who the opening trot over the mile in the time of 2:12.2. This was an improvement of exactly 16 seconds over the 4-year-old gelding's previous winning record in 1970; when he captured a race at Green Mountain — through the snow and mud — in 2:23.2, on March 26th, both times, Ken Heeney was the driver.

The second pace was taken by Hankson, his trainer Frank Browne at the reins, in 2:09.2. to record his first victory of the year. His 1970 record, for 10 starts, now stands at 1-1-1.

These two victories resulted in a 1 and 4 daily double that returned $40.20.

Red Hook Stops Webutuck, 11-9

WEBUTUCK — Tom Mabie had a perfect day, going three-for-three, with a run batted in and three runs scored and Ray Kilmer went three for five with an RBI and two runs scored as visiting Red Hook edged Webutuck, 11-9, in a Dutchess County Scholastic League Bi-Valley contest Wednesday.

Dan Thompson was the winning pitcher, while Dave Thornton took the loss. Mabie and Dave Oja had a double and a triple for Red Hook, as Ted Mathews also added a two-bagger for the winners.

Steve Ankleman had two hits and two RBIs for the losers.

Red Hook is now 5-9 overall and 5-5 in the league.

Geanuleas Injured

Maroons Blank Middies, 2-0

KINGSTON

According to Kingston High School Baseball Coach Ron Cole, the Fighting Maroons may have won the battle yesterday as they defeated visiting Middletown, 2-0, in a DUSO League encounter, but could lose the war as a head injury to No. 1 pitcher George Geanuleas makes him a doubtful starter in Thursday's game at Newburgh.

Kingston is in first place at 3-1 in the DUSO League and the locals sport a 9-3 overall record. Thursday's battle with the Goldbacks will probably decide the DUSO crown.

"I was counting on George to start against Newburgh. He is our number one man, but his injury makes him a doubtful starter. I don't know the extent of it as yet, as I do know he suffered a concussion and may not be able to play," said the coach. George was taken to Benedictine Hospital, treated there and released.

Geanuleas suffered his injury in the third inning as he led off with a triple. Rounding third, George saw that the cutoff throw from the outfield was bad, but delayed in heading for home. Shortstop Tony Bianchi fired the ball to the plate and had Geanuleas continued, he would have been out by quite a bit.

Instead of coming on, the Kingston star turned around and headed back to third. Again the throw had him beat and he was caught in a rundown, slipped in the base path, tagged from behind and accidently hit in the head with a knee as he went down.

While the injury to George dampened the spirits of his teammates, the Maroons refused to give up and staged a two-run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning. Winning pitcher Tom Gallo singled to short right field and went to second on a late throw to first from the shortstop, who had gone behind second to make the play.

Gary Short beat out an infield single and both runners moved into scoring position on a ground out by Paul Watzka. Bill Brady, slugging third sacker for the winners, then delivered the telling blow, a solid single to left, scoring both runners.

Gallo pitched his way out of jam in the top of the seventh gaining the victory.

Zeeh Goes To Finals

MONTICELLO

Playing as a one-man team Bill Zeeh of Ulster County Community College advanced to the finals of the Region XV tennis tournament before bowing to Cleveland Lynn of Nassau Community College.

After polishing off four opponents in the two-day marathon, Zeeh lost to Cleveland in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

A cramp in the leg almost put Zeeh out of the match. This mishap reduced his ability to rush the net and he tried unsuccessfully to contain the speedy Lynn with high lobs.

Zeeh drew a first round bye, then defeated in succession: Fred McKinley, Queensborough, 8-0; Ed Livingston, Nassau, 8-3; Bob Lang, Mitchell College, 8-0.

The semi-final match was played with conventional scoring and Zeeh eliminated Pete Taylor of Mitchell College, 6-2, 6-4.

In the doubles finals, Pete Taylor and Joe Blum of Mitchell defeated Cleveland Lynn and Larry Baum of Nassau.

Nassau captured the team championship with 19 points, followed by Mitchell College with 16 and Suffolk Community with nine.

Iowa Ousts Evashevski, Nagel

By WILLIAM L. EBERLINE

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — The University of Iowa was ostensibly without an athletic director and a head football coach today, leaving the Big Ten Conference school in a wobbly situation for next fall's gridiron campaign.

A four-month feud in the department came to a head Tuesday when the Board in Control of Athletics accepted Athletic Director Forest Evashevski's resignation and relieved football Coach Ray Nagel of his duties, both effective June 30.

Prof. Sam Fahr, board chairman, said a search already has been started for a successor to Evashevski. He made no mention of finding a successor to Nagel. Presumably that would be left up the new athletic director.

Nagel, however, said he could not accept the decision of the board.

"It is my basic position," he said, "that I have a valid and binding contract as head football coach at Iowa until Dec. 31, 1970, and I expect to carry out this contract."

Nagel has scheduled a press conference for 2 p.m. today at the Iowa fieldhouse.

The board said it took its decision with reluctance and praised both men.

Evashevski, 52, came to Iowa in 1952 and boosted the Hawkeyes to a national football powerhouse.

His record as a coach from 1952-1960 was 52-27-4, best in Iowa history. His 1957 and 1959 teams won Rose Bowl championships.

Nagel came to Iowa from the University of Utah in 1966. His teams in four years have had a 13-26-1 record, but he has just come off two 5-5 seasons and had high hopes for the coming year.

Dissension simmered through the football season last fall, and erupted after the last game with the firing of Gary Grouwinkel, a close friend of Evashevski and one of his former star linemen, as an assistant coach.

Nagel's No. 1 quarterback, Larry Lawrence, and No. 2 fullback, Tom Smith, quit the university as a result of the row and went to the University of Miami, Fla.

Another dimension was added to the fuss recently with the disclosure that alleged irregularities in the expense accounts of some athletic department coaches were under investigation.

Red Wings Score 27

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)— The Rochester Red Wings battered five Buffalo Bison pitchers for 27 runs Tuesday night as the Wings romped to a 27-4 victory over the Bisons.

Rochester second-baseman Bob Grich hit 3 home runs and led the way with 7 runs batted in.

Wings pitcher Jack Fisher also chipped in with 4 rbi's.

The 27 runs scored fell three runs short of the Red Wings record for one game which is 30.

Inheritance Got Back in the Beam

YONKERS, N. Y. (UPI) — After a dismal seventh place finish in her last previous outing, Inheritance got back on the beam Tuesday night at Yonkers Raceway by capturing the feature pace.

Inheritance, clocked in 2:04.3, scored by three-quarters of a length over the favored Lift Off with Fancy Pilot a head back in third place. The winner paid $15.80, $6.80 and $4.20.

The 5-1 double of Butler's Chatzie and Sir Charles Pick returned $39.20.

Ray Schalk Dies at 77

CHICAGO (AP)) — Ray "Cracker" Schalk, the brilliant defensive catcher who made baseball's Hall of Fame despite a lifetime batting average of .253, died of cancer Tuesday. He was 77.

Schalk, named to the Hall of Fame in 1955, led American League catchers defensively eight times between 1913 and 1922 and caught 100 or more games for 12 years. He caught a total 1,760 major league games.

He played for the Chicago White Sox for 1912 until 1926 and managed the club in 1927 and 1928. He finished his career as a player coach with the New York Giants in 1929.

Schalk once said his thrill to being named in the Hall of Fame was matched only by his sudden introduction to the major leagues.

The Sox bought him from Milwaukee Aug. 10, 1912. The very next day "I took the street car out to the ball park and a few minutes before the first game of a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics, Manager Jimmy Callaghan put a ball in my hand and said: "Son, you're catching Doc White today.'

"I didn't even have a chance to get scared. We got beat 3-1 by Chief Bender."

Schalk made three assists in one inning, a record later equalled by Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees. He played in the 1917 World Series and also with the ill-fated Black Sox in the 1919 World Series. Schalk was one of the players not involved in the scandal.

THIS IS REALTOR WEEK

waiting for house prices to come down?

They May Be 20% Higher in 1971

Planning on buying a new home? You think it is wise to wait for lower prices? Actually it is smart to deal today.

Here are the facts. Land prices are rising. Labor and materials will cost more. $20,000 house will sell for $21,000 in a year and $24,000 by 1971.

Buy now. Increased valuation will be your gain—not your loss.

Expecting a trend change is wishful thinking. As the economy grows some inflation is inevitable. It is wise if you can buy now. Enjoy an increased value on your investment. Houses will be higher later.

WAITING FOR INTEREST TO COME DOWN?

The rise in interest rates may be a deterrent to your house-buying plans. No one likes to pay more. But mortgage interest rates are below rates on other items normally financed. A house increases in value, too. Rates may not be increased as much as you think either. ½% is only about $6 a month on a 25-year loan for $20,000.

Your Realtor knows the best buys in your area. Many new homes can be bought with little down and on long-term loans. Some not-so-new carry lower than prevailing rates on present mortgages.

These are listed in the Classified Section of The Daily Freeman. Look them over—then look him up. He can advise you about values, finances, taxes, schools, other matters. He can help you. Now is the time to buy a home.

GI Backs Nixon, Is Killed in Cambodia

HONOLULU (AP) — Hours after learning their soldier son had been killed in Cambodia, Edmund and Wattie Mae Hedemann cabled President Nixon: "If we could help you make others realize that your decision is right, we stand ready to serve you."

The Hedemanns learned of their son Wayne's death the same day the local newspapers published a letter from him that said: "With this attack, Nixon is getting my vote in the next election."

Hedemann, 24, a helicopter copilot, was Hawaii's first casualty of the Cambodia campaign. He was killed May 13 while flying a combat mission.

His father, commenting Tuesday on his cable to the President, urged a reporter to "tell them—tell them all—his parents are not going to quit. Good citizens must get together and do something about how they feel."

"My son was a good American," he said. "He backed his President, it didn't make any difference if he was a Democrat or Republican."

In his last letter to his mother, Wayne wrote: "Mom, I hope everyone back home is for Nixon. Because this should have been done three years ago."

Mrs. Hedemann in recent weeks had been busy traveling between her Hawaii Island home and Honolulu, where she urged state legislators to reverse their stand against the move into Cambodia.

Both houses had passed resolutions opposing the Cambodian action.

Dear Abby

Having Kids Up to You

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem isn't an uncommon one from talking to some of my friends, but I've never seen anything in your column about it.

My husband and I have been married for 5 years. We have two small children, and another on the way. Abby, we wanted these children!

We haven't told my parents about the one on the way yet because we know they are going to take fits! (Especially my mother.)

Every time I get pregnant there is a noisy scene. We're well able to support these children, and we've never asked our parents to baby-sit or help out financially, but they make us feel so guilty. They say we are "crazy" to tie ourselves down to so much responsibility while we're young—that we should enjoy ourselves and be "free" for the first 10 years. But Abby, we want to be young with our children.

I am a nervous wreck! How should I break the news that No. 3 will be here for Christmas?

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Save the news, appropriately enough, for Father's day—since you just missed Mother's day. In any case, it sounds as though you're strangling on a cord between you and your mother which should have been cut years ago. Live your own adult life and don't feel guilty.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman who has had a very unsatisfactory marriage for nearly 20 years, but I won't go into that because that's not my problem.

My problem is my gentleman friend. Walter is not Married. (He's divorced.) We've been seeing each other (discreetly) for nearly 3 years, and it's no cheap love affair, Abby, it's the best thing that has ever happened to me.

Walter and I can't be seen together in public because my husband is a fairly prominent professional man, and I still put up a good front as a happily married wife and mother.

Every once in a while Walter takes a lady out. He says he has to, because if he isn't seen in public once in a while with a woman, people will think there is something wrong with him.

Well, every time Walter has a date with another woman, I go to pieces. I suppose it's wrong of me, but I can't help it. Do you think if he really loved me he'd date another woman? Even for appearances sake?

TEARS IN MY WINE

DEAR TEARS: I can't tell you if Walter "really" loves you or not. But the "suffering" you endure every time he dates another woman is part of the price you're paying for this affair. (The "best" things in life are very expensive.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who publicly refers to his secretary as his "office wife?"

HIS HOME WIFE

DEAR HOME: He's either looking for trouble. Or has found it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that man whose wife rejected him 97 times last year to send her to San Francisco and let her ride the cable cars. I understand a woman there claims that after she got shook up in a cable car she couldn't say "no" to anybody.

Respectfully yours: D. W.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

JOB WAR: (Q.) I'm 16 and want to go to work. My mother thinks this is a good idea. But my boy friend says no. He says if I do he will break off with me.

He doesn't think girls should work. Is he right? If not, how can I get him to change his mind? I love him and don't want to lose him.

—Non-Working Girl in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Your boy friend is not only out of step with the world. He is also bossy. He should look around him and see how many girls and women work. He also should realize that he has no authority to say what you can or cannot do.

If you and your parents agree you need to get a job, and if it is a decent job and does not interfere with school work, go ahead.

Your boy friend can then decide whether to be reasonable or stubborn. If he carries out his threat to leave you, I do not believe your loss will be a great one.

GIRLISH: (Q.) I'm like a girl in many ways. I like girl's clothes. I like boys the way girls like them. I look like a girl. Boys call me "Sissy." They think I'm a softie because I don't like boys' games.

What do you think I should do? I'm 12.

—Diffffferent in Alabama.

(A.) Your awareness of difference is the first step, and a big one, toward adjustment for you. Ask your mother or father to make an appointment for you with your family doctor. Ask them to let you talk to him alone.

Give him straight answers to his questions. Be as honest with him as you've been with me. He will help you or refer you to someone who can.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402 Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

Pollution—Depressing Show

NEW YORK (AP) — A few seasons back, CBS was very high on a documentary quiz show it developed. It permitted the viewer to participate actively, was shot full of statistics and results of polls and asked a lot of true-or-false questions about a single subject.

The first show, about driving a car, was a hit and a novelty, but the ones that followed, about health and citizenship, were a bit of a drag. They were cluttered and complicated, attracted small audiences and the network seemed to have lost interest in them.

The form was revived Tuesday night as a device by which the network was able to pull together much of the frightening knowledge about our environmental pollution. This viewer, after all the television ado on the subject, scored very high—as would almost any concerned and literate citizen.

The hour-long program used photographic illustrations, cartoons and graphs to set up the bases for the questions. The subject matter ranged from the well known facts about air contamination caused by burning fuels to the possible ecological consequences of building a replacement for the Panama Canal which would mingle the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

It was, as all such programs are, a depressing program. But television has been in the vanguard of the antipollution crusade and some of its special programs like "Who Killed Lake Erie?" obviously have helped alert the public.

While television is extraordinarily effective in handling a subject like pollution—something that a camera's eye can see—the networks have not yet found a satisfactory way of handling a subject like economics and finance.

While it is dramatic to show fuming smokestacks and garbage-filled rivers, there is really nothing much TV can do about a huge sell-off in the stock market except note how many points the Dow Jones average dropped during the day.

Tom Kennedy has quietly departed NBC's daytime game show, "It's Your Bet"—so quietly the network press department did not even know it—and has been replaced by comic Dick Gautier, enlisted from "Can You Top This?" The game show will soon be dropped by the network anyway and Kennedy is about to launch his own syndicated series.

Whenever we consider experts at their worst we think about our friend "Hardluck Joe." Joe isn't really an expert, but he thinks that he is. He tries to play the way he thinks an expert would play.

We watched Joe operate recently. His four-heart call was a mild overbid, but Joe always overbids when he is going to be declarer. He ruffed the club opening and played out his ace and king of trumps. This accounted for all enemy trumps and left Joe in control.

"Watch me finesse all around them," he chortled. Then he led a spade to dummy's 10 and East's jack. Back came another club. Joe ruffed and proceeded to lose another spade finesse. This time East returned a diamond. Joe played low and a third finesse lost to West's queen. Since the ace of diamonds was still out another rubber game missed by one trick.

"I ought to quit bridge" moaned Joe. "Three finesses out of three wrong.

"Yes, you should" said North. "When you are sure of your contract without finessing, why finesse?

North was right. When trumps broke 2-2 Joe was certain to make his contract if he didn't go after overtricks. His correct play was to lay down his king of diamonds. It just might pluck a singleton queen for an over-trick. In this case West would win with his ace.

If he shifted to a spade, Joe would finesse the queen. East would win with his king.

Now he could do anything he pleased, except defeat the contract. If East led the spade jack dummy would win with the ace, making his 10 good.

Any other lead and Joe would have time to knock out the diamond queen and discard one of dummy's spades on the fourth diamond.

A Visitor to Historic Uptown—Most Exciting

By JEAN F. DOLAN. . .

KINGSTON — "The most exciting place I've ever seen."

This was one visitor's reaction to historic uptown Kingston as the first in a series of meetings to plan the future of the Senate House and Museum complex.

Scholars, State Historic Trust officials and local historical preservation leaders met in an all-day session Tuesday to explore the development of the Senate House area in uptown Kingston. There were no firm decisions coming out of the initial discussions. However, state officials were made aware of the unique aspects of Kingston where history and modern business life function side by side.

Approximately 30 persons attended the meeting which started at 10:30 a.m. and concluded at 5 p.m. Several of the state visitors arrived by helicopter landing at the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

A primary meeting was held last week in Albany where Fred Johnston, chairman of the Kingston Historic Landmarks Commission and Mrs. Elizabeth Donnaruma, the mayor's representative on the commission, met with Bern Forrester, architect consultant for the State Historic Trust. Discussion at that meeting centered on the scholarly restoration of the Senate House and development of the museum complex and proposed park surrounding the seat of New York State government.

Further discussion of this project was of primary concern at the Tuesday session here.

HISTORICAL MEET—Discussing plans for the Senate House historical complex Tuesday were (L) John Pell, head of the bi-centennial celebration committee; Louis L. Tucker, assistant commissioner for State History; Louis C. Jones, chairman of the N.Y.S. Historic Trust; Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, Ulster County historian and John P. Remensnyder, president of Senate House board of trustees. (Freeman photo by Haines.)

The most important phase of the Tuesday talks was the fact that state authorities are now aware not only of the historical stature of Kingston as the state's first capital but also as a well-preserved functioning community. The historical and architectural features not only preserved but are an integral part of the city's modern role.

A lavish presentation was given by Mark Lawton, head of the state historic trust, outlining the development of the entire Senate House and Museum area which is, of course, one of the state's historic sites.

Other state officials on hand Tuesday were Louis C. Jones, chairman of the New York State Historic Trust who has long been associated with the New York State Museums at Cooperstown; Louis L. Tucker, assistant commissioner for State History, State Historian of New York and John Pell, head of the bi centennial celebration.

It is expected that further discussions will be held in the near future to firm plans. Target date for completion is the bi-centennial celebration which will be held in two years. By that time it is hoped that the museums and park will be ready for visitors and local residents celebrating the founding of the state and country.

Violence May Delay 18 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recent outbreaks of campus violence may have endangered one of the students' prized goals—lowering the voting age to 18.

With a House vote on the 18-year-old vote due next month, sponsors are worried a backlash effect may be building as anti-war sentiment continues to disrupt the colleges.

There is also concern the strongly anti-Nixon stance of the protesting students will make it harder to pick up the 40 or so Republican votes needed to pass the measure.

"I'd have to say its going to be tough now," said Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., who is leading the effort to build House Republican support for the bill.

Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-Ill., a Democrat working actively for the measure, shares Railsback's concern. "Before all this," Mikva said, "studies showed that the students weren't in anybody's bag. In states where there is a lower voting age, they haven't changed the voting patterns much. But now Mr. Nixon has good reason to believe they are against him."

President Nixon already has come out against the Senate-passed bill, which calls for lowering the voting age by federal statute. Nixon has said it should be done by constitutional amendment.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford is supporting the President's position, which makes Railsback's job even tougher.

Mikva said the 40 necessary Republican votes were in hand a few days ago, but there is some doubt about the GOP support now.

The backlash effect of student demonstrations and riots can be seen in letters coming into the House Judiciary Committee.

A man in Hackensack, N.J., said no country where students have political power is in very good shape, and a man in St. Louis wrote, "The past week has shown to the nation the irresponsibility and the lack of making qualified judgments by the students of this country."

No Cablevision Hike, Quick to Residents

KINGSTON — Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-6th Ward), chairman of the Common Council's Laws and Rules Committee, issued a statement today in regard to the recent letter sent to the residents of the city by the Kingston Cablesvision Corporation.

Alderman Quick stated that "no increase has been approved for Kingston Cablevision and none has been considered. Before any consideration could be given for a possible increase we would need the following problems cleared up: : better service for the City of Kingston, a better and more reliable picture on all channels and a satisfactory explanation regarding the recent "black out" of Channel 2."

He further stated that the letter sent to subscribers of Kingston Cablevision has the people of Kingston believing that an increase has been approved. "This is not true, and the last paragraph of this letter is very misleading," stated Quick. "I personally advise each subscriber of cablevision to pay no more than their normal rate as they have in the past."
